Uncle Sam Is Rich.
Plain, Unpleasant.
23 Maniacs.
More Purifying.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1928.)

UNCLE SAM will probably collect in taxes $100,000,000 more this year than last. Good news for many, especially those that like to see important public works put through. With one hundred millions as a starter, you can do a good deal.

THE latest oil scandal news, in plain, unpleasant words, is this: Investigators suggest that the late President Harding got some of the oil bonds, the transaction being in some way connected with the sale of President Harding's newspaper, the Marion Star. Absolutely no proof is offered to support the suspicion.

WHEN the newspaper was sold, Frank A. Vanderlip suggested corruption, but professed unwillingness "to lift a corner of the shroud" of the dead President.

The Senate investigators propose to lift off the coffin lid and find what they can.

WITH Dante through Purgatory and Hell, you find misery no deeper than was seen in the faces of twenty-three lunatics carried into court yesterday, that the judge might send them to an asylum.

Some were in strait-jackets, struggling horribly, some on stretchers. One young man had tried to kill himself, worrying about the income tax. His income is $22 a week.

Their troubles were all imaginary. So are many troubles among those called sane. One hundred years wipes out everything.

MRS. ALICE ROOSEVELT LONGWORTH sends Senator Borah $100 to help purify the Republican party by giving back to Mr. Sinclair money he contributed to pay the debts of the Harding campaign managers.

ONE of the most amusing demonstrations witnessed in this nation capable of extreme silliness is the excitement about giving back his money to Mr. Sinclair.

Senator Reed, of Missouri, sensibly calls it "paying a hired assassin for the dagger he left in the body of his victim."

IT WAS not quite as tragic as that. On the whole it was rather comical to see a collection of "high financiers," [illegible] and others, trying to be dishonest in a deep way, going about it with their trumped up Continental Oil Company, as foolishly as three-year-old children might have done.

YOU may have noticed occasionally in this column the suggestion, "Don't sell things short in America." The wise E. I. Du Pont Nemours gentlemen bought 114,000 shares of United States Steel common a little while ago. Many said then: "The stock is very high." Needing a little cash the Du Ponts have just sold that steel, making about $8,000,000 profit.

THE day is coming and the Du Ponts know it, when they will wish they had kept their stock.

However, don't gamble. Steel will go up, but it can go down. And it will do that also. UP and DOWN, and the DOWN drops out the little fellows—wiser, sadder, poorer.

DR. HERRING, chairman of the National Conference of Jews and Christians, says it is wrong to Christianize Jews. He especially objects to "evangelizing, hidden under the guise of ice cream parties." Considering that we borrowed our religion from the Jews, fixing it up our own way, it is rather impertinent to demand they take our version of it.

However, there is little danger of successful evangelizing.

If fire, torture and religious hatred spread over nearly two thousand years couldn't do it, ice cream parties won't do it.

DAVID LAWRENCE, who sometimes gets political news in advance, says Mrs. Woodrow Wilson will support Gov. Smith, of New York, for president. If Gov. Smith were elected president he would remember his friends better than President Wilson remembered some of his. Ask George Harvey.

THE American Actors' Union makes stringent rules to prevent actors from England and other places working in America. If the actors are mechanics, that is a good idea. If they are artists, it is bad.

Artists should be welcomed and encouraged everywhere. They are rare.

WIFE OF HOTEL MAN IS HELD FOR MURDER

DEATH VOW TOLD

"If you tell, I'll kill you!"

Mrs. Mary Spehar, 27, held today by a corner's jury for the murder of her husband, John Spehar, Butler street saloon keeper, muttered these words to a male companion as they were leaving St. Margaret's Hospital following the slaying of Spehar March 4, Night Superintendent of Nurses Madelaide Zerfross testified at the inquest.

On entering the hospital where her husband was taken after being found beaten and shot near his garage at the rear of his home, 4520 Stanton avenue, Mrs. Spehar was heard to say to the same companion:

"O, Jack, don't tell; O, Jack, don't tell!"

This was testified by Mary Whigham, a nurse.

The Rev. Father Joseph Skur, pastor of the hurch of St. Mary's Assumption, Fifty-seventh street, called by Attorney Ralph Smith, counsel for Mrs. Spehar, testified he was with Mrs. Spehar and her companion when they left the hospital and that he did not hear her make any comment.

John Peskie was the man with Mrs. Spehar, he testified.

Peskie had been summoned as a witness for Mrs. Spehar, but didn't take the stand. He is a resident of the same neighborhood as the Spehars.

A red dress worn by Mrs. Spehar the night of the killing was produced in evidence by City Detectives David Corbett, Frank Dodson, Edward Sweeny and Robert Best, of the homicide squad.

A thread of this dress, Corbett testified, had been found on a pick handle with which Spehar was beaten, along with smudges of clay. The pick was placed in the Spehar kitchen and the next day the thread was gone, Corbett said. He also testified to finding Mrs. Spehar's coat and gloves in the garage, spotted with blood and clay. There were no blood stains outside the garage, Corbett said, supporting the police theory that Spehar was slain inside the garage.

Mrs. Spehar's story at the time, Corbett testified, was that her hus-

Held for Murder

MRS. MARIE SPEHAR

A coroner's jury today recommended that Mrs. Marie Spehar be held for a grand jury investigation into the death of her husband, John Spehar, Butler street saloon-keeper, who was beaten to death in rear of the Spehar home, 4520 Stanton avenue, March 4. Mrs. Spehar became hysterical and screamed, "There is no justice," when separated from her five-year-old daughter and taken to a jail cell, following the decision of the coroner's jury.

SAYS SCHWAB BROKE PACT

By MAX HENRICI,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The Rev. William Gilbert Nowell, pastor of a Methodist Episcopal Church at Houston, Pa., swore today that he had been told by an official of the Pittsburgh Coal Company that the famous "The Senators are coming" letter to mine superintendents, branded as a forgery by the company, in which the superintendents were directed to clean up their camps in preparation for the visit of the Senate investigating committee, was a genuine document.

Testifying before the Senate Committee, in its investigation of the coal strike, the Rev. Mr. Nowell told of the persecution to which he averred he had been subjected by the Pittsburgh Coal Company because of activities as a pastor and social worker at the company's No. 4 Camp at Hill Station. The company, he declared, not only evicted him from the company house he occupied, but tried to drive him from his pastorate.

Tells of Vice

Mr. Nowell told of the murders and other crimes committed in the camp, and charged the coal and iron police with a number of specific felonies and misdemeanors.

Charles M. Schwab and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., were accused by Van A. Bittner, chief representative of the United Mine Workers' international organization in Northern West Virginia, another witness, of having broken a contract made with the United Mine Workers at Baltimore in 1924. The Bethlehem Mines Corporation, headed by Schwab, and the Consolidation Coal Company, a Rockefeller property, went even farther in abrogating their contract with the union, Bittner declared, than the Pittsburgh Coal Company went in repudiating the Jacksonville agreement. Schwab and Rockefeller have been summoned to appear before the Senate Committee next Friday.

The Rev. Mr. Nowell took the stand again when the hearing was resumed this morning.

One of the indirect reasons for wanting him out of the house, he said, was because he attended a hearing of pickets who had been arrested by coal and iron police on what he considered false charges. Not content with evicting him, the Pittsburgh Coal Company sought, the Rev. Mr. Nowell declared, to drive him out of his pastorate, but was unsuccessful in this. The church, he said, was not on the coal company's property.

Accuses Mine Guard

Testifying about the brutality of the coal and iron police at Hill Station, who were guarding the property of Montour No. 4 mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, the Rev. Mr. Nowell mentioned the case of Corporal Shea, who, he said, was drunk half the time, and who, on May 12 last, he said, shot a Negro in the back on little or no provocation. The Negro was in the hos-

CLEVELAND, March 21.—Morris "Ben" Nadel, the man who arranged a "hideout" for Pat McDermott, following the Don R. Mellett murder at Canton, O., and a companion, not yet identified, were shot and killed near Willoughby, east of Cleveland, early today by two youthful assailants, who escaped.

The two bodies were found in the front seat of Nadel's Lincoln sedan, parked in an isolated section of Lost Nation road. The man identified by Cleveland detectives as Nadel, had been shot 16 times, while the youth with him was struck by 11 bullets. Portions of each man's face had been shot away. Nadel was slumped over the wheel, with the other victim leaning against him.

Nadel, under penitentiary sentence after being convicted of harboring McDermott, who is now serving a life sentence for Mellett's murder, was at liberty on bond of $35,000 pending an appeal.

The companion it was said, resembled Dan Pfaff, also of Cleveland, who testified at Nadel's trial. Several persons who knew Pfaff, were unable to say positively that he was the dead man, however.

BETTIS FIELD MUD HOLDS RADIO PLANE

Because of the muddy condition of Bettis Field, McKeesport, the New York American's big monoplane, Toledo Leader-ship, will remain in the Pittsburgh district another day.

In an attempt to take off this morning the plane's wheels sank in the mud and Lieut. George Hopkins, the pilot, decided to postpone continuation of the 9,000-mile coast-to-coast flight until tomorrow. He hopes to take off in the early morning while the ground is frozen.

The aviators in the clouds over the mountain tops of the Alleghenies yesterday carried on a conversation by wireless with men in office buildings in Pittsburgh. It was one of the greatest triumphs of radio.

Messages interchanged between the land and the sky at the same time were received through hundreds of receiving sets in Western Pennsylvania and in many adjoining states while the big monoplane winged it way from Bolling Field, Washington, D. C., to Bettis Field, McKeesport, on the second leg of its trans-continental flight. Felicitations from The Sun-Telegraph to the fliers on the success of the enterprise were received on the plane and heartened the men on their journey against wintry winds high above the snow-clad hills.

The plane arrived at the local field shortly before 5 o'clock.

The conversation between land and sky was made possible through the co-operation of Westinghouse station KDKA through which was

COUZENS FIRES ON MELLON

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Demands for the resignation of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, as voiced in a resolution introduced late Tuesday by Senator James Couzens, of Michigan, gave promise today of developing the greatest display of political pyrotechnics that has been witnessed in the Senate in four years.

The debate on the resolution, which will be called up as soon as the rules permit, probably tomorrow, is expected to bring out all of the bitterness that has marked the long-standing political feud between Couzens and the Treasury Department head.

Strangely enough, Mellon and Couzens, both Republicans, are the two wealthiest men holding public office today. The Mellon fortune is variously estimated at around the $500,000,000 mark, while Couzens, one of the founders of the Ford Motor Company, is declared to be worth in excess of $50,000,000.

OLD FEUD

Revival of the feud between them is certain to have some bearing on the national presidential campaign, which stands in the offing. For several years there have been outward manifestations of animosity between them, starting with an investigation

NAME JAIL DOPE SMUGGLER

An investigation made yesterday by the federal grand jury, sitting at Erie, of the frustrated plot to smuggle morphine to William Schreiner, alias William Campbell, alias "Big Willie," a drug addict, while he was a federal prisoner in the county jail, on February 25, resulted in Schreiner and his mother, Mrs. Annie Schreiner, 60, being indicted on a charge of conspiring to violate the Harrison narcotic act.

The true bill also charged five others with conspiring to violate the drug act, continuously from May 1, 1927, to last March 1. They are Ruth Schreiner, alias Ruth Campbell, Thomas Weir, Alice Mayer, Vincent S. McKee and Thomas Ray Frazier. The bill cites a number of alleged sales and purchases of morphine and cocaine in Pittsburgh, New Castle and other towns.

One of the overt acts set forth in the indictment is that Annie Schreiner gave to John Huebeter, an outside guard at the jail, a match box containing a small quantity of morphine, to be delivered to Schreiner. The morphine was found under a false bottom of the match box, according to government officers.

Investigation conducted by Government Narcotic Agent William T. Duffy resulted in the case being presented before the grand jury, at which the government was repre-

RATE JUDGES ASK HELP

HAZY ON POWERS OF I. C. C.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 21.—(AP.)—Aid of counsel in the lake cargo injunction suit was sought today by the three Federal judges conducting the hearing as a means of clarifying fo the benefit of the court certain technical questions regarding the authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

At the resumption of the hearing upon the application of Southern coal operators for an injunction to restrain the commission from preventing Southern railroads from putting a reduced freight rate to the Northwest into effect, Circuit Court Judge John J. Parker read a prepared statement on behalf of himself and Circuit Court Judge Elliott Northcott and District Judge George W. McClintic, asking for answers to three specific questions. He asked that counsel on both sides submit their answers during their arguments or file briefs on the subject.

Before reading the questions Judge Parker, presiding, explained that counsel in the case was familiar with rate procedure, but that the court did not have the benefit of a "rate atmosphere." Emphasizing that it was not the purpose to indicate any opinion or the attitude of the court, Judge Parker explained that certain questions had arisen and that the court desired answers from counsel on them.

ASK COUNSEL QUESTIONS

In an extended statement, which set forth the court's assumption of certain powers of the commission, counsel was asked if the commission had the right to refuse to carriers the right to reduce rates which would still give them a fair return. At the end of the statement were the following formal questions:

"1—Can a rate be raised to interfere with the rates or revenues of a competing road where such rate is higher than the rate of such competing road?

"2—Is not the raising of a rate already higher than a rate to be reduced to a point which will leave it higher than the rate from a competing community necessarily an attempt to equalize industrial conditions or to remove some natural or other handicap under which the community labors?

"3—Has the commission the power to thus equalize conditions or to remove such handicap?"

Rebuttal arguments on behalf of the southern operators' contention were submitted during the morning session, while other counsel in the case prepared answers to the court's questions. First rebuttal addresses were made by R. E. Quirk, of Washington, and J. V. Norman, of Louisville.

ANSWERS JUDGES

Taking up the questions propounded by the court, Patrick J. Farrell, counsel for the commission, informed the three judges that if the commission stepped outside the law in the decision in question it should be upset by the courts. He added that if the court was to reach its finding from the evidence in the case there was no way to do it but to examine the massive record. If the court desired to determine the case on points of law, Farrell said, it could be done from the written opinion of the commission.

There is no way to tell what was in the minds of the commission members, Farrell said, except by reading "what they said." Holding up a copy of the opinion, he said, he was surprised that so little attention had been given the document during the present hearing.

Farrell made an affirmative answer to the first question of the court, explaining that the commission must take many matters into consideration when it undertakes to adjust rates such as distances, property values and the value of service performed. As to the second and third questions, the commission attorney said the commission does not have the power to deprive a community of its natural advantages in fixing rates. He pointed out that one community might have one advantage and another community might have an entirely different advantage and that in fixing rates both of these would have to be taken into consideration and carefully weighed.

ATTACKS ACT

Norman, in his argument for the operators, attacked the constitutionality of the Interstate Commerce act. "If Congress intended to grant that body such broad powers as it has assumed in the present case," he said, "then Congress must set up some standard by which the commission can condemn a rate."

The commission's rate-making authority comes into play when a rate is unreasonable, Norman argued. He then discussed the "zone of reasonableness," under which he maintained the railroads have power to fix their rates, and so long as they stay within the "zone" the commission cannot exercise any power. He said that the commission did not recognize the "zone of reasonableness" in denying the lower rates to the lakes "by which we would have benefited."

Asked by the court to define the term "zone of reasonableness," Norman said it is "up to the point of a maximum reasonable rate and down to a point of a minimum reasonable rate." He contended the commission for the first time in the present case asserted the right to fix the rates of one carrier to the advantage of another carrier.

"So far as I know that has never been done before," he said.

CALLS CITY 'TOLERANT' IN REPLY

Despite protests of Slavic residents of Pittsburgh, the hospitality of the city will be extended formally tomorrow to a delegation of 300 citizens of Hungary touring the United States.

"Pittsburgh is a tolerant city in a tolerant nation, and Pittsburgh cannot repudiate its invitation to these men and women," said Mayor Charles H. Kline. "They were invited to visit us by City Council, and I should fail in my duty were I to refuse to welcome them."

The delegation, composed largely of the nobility, business and professional men of Budapest, Hungary, will arrive here late today, and at 9:30 tomorrow will be tendered a public reception by Mayor Kline and the members of Council. The visitors will be the guests of the city at a banquet in the William Penn Hotel in the evening. They are making a tour of the country in separate groups, following the unveiling of a statue to Louis Kossuth in New York last week.

In their protest to the Mayor, the Slavic residents of Pittsburgh point out that they constitute 200,000 of the city's population and are a law-abiding and industrious element who contribute to the community's thrift and progress. On the other hand, it is declared that the Hungarian visitors are in this country spreading propaganda for the restoration of the Hapsburgs on the throne at Vienna and are working also for the negotiation of American loans. The protest is signed by the officers of a score of Czecho-Slovakian and Rumanian societies.

The protest of the societies was supplemented today by a resolution sent to Mayor Kline by the Independent Workmen's Council, declaring that the Hungarian representatives "are coming here to obtain funds to strengthen the reactionary government and its white terror."

COUZENS DEMANDS MELLON RESIGN

of treasury income tax matters by a special committee of the Senate, headed by Couzens. Following this a running-fire controversy was kept up for some time by a series of public statements issued in criticism of each other.

More recently, or about two years ago, fuel was added to the fire by the action of the Treasury Department in levying an additional tax assessment of $10,000,000 against Couzens on the sale of his Ford motor stock to Henry Ford in 1919, which brought forth the charge from the Michigan Senator that the assessment was intended as a political reprisal.

ANOTHER PARALLEL

Introduction of the resolution has brought about a revival of the atmosphere that prevailed in the Senate in 1924 when similar measures were adopted, after bitter discussion, demanding the resignation of Secretary of the Navy Edwin Denby, of Michigan, and Attorney General Harry Daugherty, of Ohio, two original members of the Harding cabinet, who were involved in the leasing of the naval oil reserves.

Although the Senate is without power to force the resignation of a cabinet officer, except in the case of impeachment, Secretary Denby saw fit to retire in the face of the resolution. Attorney General Daugherty resigned at the request of the President.

Speculation is intense whether the Couzens resolution will pass and what President Coolidge will do in the event that it does. Secretary Mellon being one of the chief figures in the Coolidge cabinet and a close personal friend of the President, the general belief is that the chief executive would ignore the senatorial measure, should it prevail.

Senator Couzens based his resolution on a series of complaints against the Treasury Department head, first of which was Mr. Mellon's failure to reveal his knowledge of Harry F. Sinclair's contribution to the deficit of the Republican party in the 1920 campaign.

BOND DEAL IS FUSE

The fact that Mr. Mellon was tendered $50,000 in Sinclair bonds by Will Hays, former chairman of the Republican National Committee, as an inducement to make a contribution of an equal amount to the deficit, and failed to make public the negotiations at the time, led to demands for his resignation in the Senate Monday by Senator James A. Reed, fiery Democrat, of Missouri, although he offered no formal resolution on the subject.

Among other things, the Michigan Senator charged that while the Senate has condemned the expenditure of $786,934 in behalf of the senatorial candidacy of William S. Vare in Pennsylvania during 1926, the campaign fund of $1,804,979 spent by former Senator George Wharton Pepper, Vare's opponent in the primaries, was financed largely by Secretary Mellon and the Mellon interests at Pittsburgh.

He charged also that the special Senate committee, headed by him, which investigated income tax refunds of the Treasury, had discovered where the government was "defrauded" of $91,000 in the tax case of the Mellon National Bank, the Union Trust Company and the Union Savings Bank of Pittsburgh, "while Andrew W. Mellon was Secretary of the Treasury."

The further charge was made in the resolution that "Andrew W. Mellon, as Secretary of the Treasury, benefited through indefensible decisions in the tax case of the Gulf Oil Company as disclosed by the select committee of the Senate appointed to investigate the Bureau of Internal Revenue."

Touching on the present investigation by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee of conditions in the soft coal fields of Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio, the Couzens measure declared that the Pittsburgh Coal Company, one of the largest producers and a Mellon enterprise, "has done everything it could to defeat obtaining accurate findings as to its mines."

The only debate on the floor that followed introduction of the resolution was a brief interchange between Senator Couzens and Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania.

"I take it," said the Pennsylvania Senator, after the clerk had completed the reading, "that we may assume Mr. Mellon is otherwise all right."

"I wont' admit that," was Senator Couzens' retort.

SAVE PITTSBURGH GIRL FROM NOOSE, HUSBAND MUST DIE

LIFE TERM GIVEN TO DORIS

International News Service.

OTTAWA, March 21.—Doris Julia McDonald will not die on the gallows Friday morning.

Governor General Willingdon announced officially early this afternoon that the Mount Vernon (N. Y.) girl, formerly of Pittsburgh, accused with her husband of the murder of a taxi driver last July, had been granted a reprieve.

But while Doris' sentence was commuted to life imprisonment, her husband, George, convicted with her of killing Adelard Bouchard, must die. He will be executed early Friday morning.

Granting of life to the young woman, former society bud, followed weeks of strenuous effort by friends and well-wishers in many parts of the United States, who claimed that her alleged confession to the crime was made in an effort to shield her husband. McDonald finally made a statement denying that Doris killed Bouchard, although he did not confess to the murder himself.

TWO FIRES IMPERIL 23; LOSS $90,000

Firemen from three adjoining boroughs early today battled flames threatening the destruction of Braddock's business district. Less than an hour before, Turtle Creek Volunteer Fire Department fought a stubborn blaze, in a three-story apartment building, which routed 14 families. Nine persons narrowly escaped death in the Braddock fire, which caused more than $80,000 damage. The Turtle Creek fire entailed about $10,000 loss.

The Braddock blaze started in the rear of the Seamon Motor Company, 427-29 John street, and spread through a three-story double frame house, a large warehouse and another garage. In one side of the big frame dwelling lived Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zinkan and their son, Charles, 20. Only the mother and son were at home, Zinkan being at work in the Edgar Thomson Steel Works. Mother and son were awakened by firemen and escaped, but were unable to save any of their household goods.

Next door to the Zinkans lived Mrs. Anna Martin, a widow, and her daughter, Minnie, 18 and five boarders, Benjamin Woomer, Dennis Lilly, Gustave Novak, Lester Smith and Noel Smith. They barely managed to escape. Mrs. Martin lost everything. She and her daughter were given shelter by Mrs Edward Guillaune, 435 John street.

Braddock firemen fought the blaze for almost an hour, but found the flames spreading beyond control. Then they sent calls for aid to North Braddock, Rankin and Turtle Creek. It took the combined

While the heavy snowfall afforded many children the opportunity of making snowmen, Edward Obidzinski, 18, and an artist at heart, took advantage of it and sculptured a real snowman in the back yard of his home, 77 Barry street. The fruit of his skill, shown above, was made without a model with only a small stick and a coal shovel. Edward, who has not yet been tutored, is looking for work.

HOW TO DO VEST TURNING TRICK

By HARDEEN.

Amateur magicians who wish to mystify their friends by their ability to extricate themselves from tight places, can do so with the vest trick, which consists of turning this garment right side out and buttoning it on backwards with the hands securely tied. Here is the way to do it:

HARDEEN.

The performer appears before his audience in his shirt sleeves and explains what he proposes to do. He produces a piece of rope a yard long and requests some one to bind each of his wrists with each end of the rope and then seal the knots with wax. Next the conjurer steps behind a screen.

The rope is long enough to permit him to unbutton his vest. He grasps it by the back of the neck and pulls it over his head until it is directly in front of him. Then he turns the vest wrong side out by passing it through one of the armholes, which makes it possible for him to put it on backwards. All left for him to do is to lower the hands straight down to his hips and then step over the rope, which is now in the form of a loop. He is now able to get his hands into position to button the vest up the back over the looped rope into his original position. When that is done he presents himself to his audience with his vest buttoned on backwards and his hands still bound with the wax seals on the knots unbroken.

Tomorrow I will explain a dinner table trick in which you will learn to pull out a coin from under a glass.

Dog Has Alibi; Jury Saves His Life

STURGIS, Mich., March 20.—(AP.)—Jack, the police dog, on trial for his life here, for killing sheep, went free today. A jury of six men hearing the case in justice court failed to agree and the charge was dismissed, ending a trial which lasted nearly two days.

The dog, accused of having killed sheep on the Emerson Littlefield farm, near Sturgis, had an alibi. His owner and a neighbor testified that the canine was at home at the time the sheep were killed.

TAKES MISSING TEACHER HOME

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., March 21.—Miss Hazel Belle Linn, 31, missing Charleroi High School teacher, found yesterday working as a domestic for an Ohiopyle family, returned home with her father, J. L. Linn, of Espyville.

A nervous breakdown caused his daughter to leave Charleroi, Linn said. She will be placed in a hospital. She had wandered 17 miles into the mountains of this district.

'SALARY BUYERS' FINED $50

Two "salary buyers" each were separated from $50 by Magistrate John W. Orie in Morals Court today after City Detective William O'Brien testified that the defendants charged usurious rates—10 per cent—on loans.

The men were Charles H. Jennings, 731 Fordham street, and R. W. Houseworth, 725 Fordham street, Brookline.

FLIER SETS RECORD; MISSES 3

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 21.—(AP.)—A broken gas feed line, bane of the airmen, ended Gene Shank's effort to establish new endurance records early today after his 90-horsepower biplane had been in the air 12 hours and 38 minutes.

The accident was the second experienced by the 22-year-old law student aviator since he took off from the ice of White Bear Lake at 1:17 p. m. yesterday. A line of hose from another plane, being used to refuel Shank's ship last night, was severed by the propeller of the biplane.

Although Shank fell far short of the solo flight mark of 33½ hours held by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, of the refueling mark of 37½ hours and of the world's endurance record of 52½ hours, one record for his class of plane was claimed for him. Available records indicate that his time in the air exceeded by 38 minutes the best previous record for light planes of the ox type, held by the late Harry Brooks.

The gasoline tank on Shank's plane was nearly empty when he landed at the municipal field at 1:55 a. m. today. The flier expressed regret over the accident, but said he would repeat his attempt within a day or two.

Through the early hours of his flight Shank cruised leisurely through the skies.

FRANKLIN OIL PIONEER DIES

FRANKLIN, Pa., March 21.—Jacob Shensley, Sr., 93, oldest oil producer in this section, died last night. John Donaldson, former union miner of Sturgeon, recently returned to work at said mine, Pittsburgh Coal Company. His neighbors pleaded with him to give up strike-breaking, but to no avail. Above, he's moving to one of the company houses.

NEIGHBORS MAKE MERRY

Donaldson's neighbors made merry over his departure from Sturgeon. Mrs. Adolphian Tasse donned her dead husband's cap and overhalls, and joined the festival with a guitar. Her husband was killed in a mine accident.

efforts of the four companies to keep the blaze from spreading.

The Nugent wa chouse contained drygoods. Its loss was estimated at $60,000. The Seamon garage was valued at $15,000 and a number of automobiles which were destroyed will bring the total loss to more than $20,000. Zinkan's damage was estimated at $2,500 and Mrs. Martin's at $2,000.

Three storerooms on the first floor and four apartments on the second floor were burned out at Penn avenue and Monroeville road, Turtle Creek. Damage was estimated at $10,000.

Fire Chief E. D. Kenyon, pushing the nozzle of a hose through an opening in floor boards, was shocked severely when it came in contact with a live wire. He was able to remain on duty after a brief rest.

The stores on the first floor were those of the Heidie Baking Company, the Wrinkler Meat Market and Ferri Brothers fruit store. The fruit store suffered the greatest loss.

DENIAL OF OIL CONTRIBUTION DRAWS FIRE

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Gov. Alfred E. Smith's fiery letter denying that Harry F. Sinclair had ever contributed to his campaigns, and his stinging rebuke to the Senators who dragged his name into the oil inquiry, prompted another attack on him in the Senate today by Senator Robinson (Rep.) of Indiana.

It was Robinson who first introduced Smith's name in the debate on the oil scandals, and he returned to the attack today, using Smith's letter as a basis.

Senator Copeland (Dem.) of New York defended Smith as an "upright, untrammeled statesman."

"I understand that Smith is a candidate for President," said Robinson. "I wonder if one of his temperament should go to the White House, what kind of language he would use in his dealings with the United States and foreign countries.

"It looks as if there might be trouble from the beginning.

"He is not as calm and as careful as a great statesman ought to be. I never supposed he would get so excited, as I had been given to understand by those espousing his candidacy that he was calm, deliberate, a great student and a great man. So I am amazed at this outburst of this presidential candidate.

"What started it all? Last Monday I merely asked Senator Walsh (Dem.), of Montana, whether Harry F. Sinclair was a member of the Smith administration in 1922, 1923, 1924 and possibly 1926. I was given to understand—I didn't know whether it was true—but I thought that Smith had appointed Sinclair to the state racing commission. Smith said Sinclair was a member.

"The question was perfectly harmless. I think if Smith was so proud of his administration he would gladly admit that Sinclair was an appointee on the racing commission.

"The record shows that Smith twice appointed Sinclair to the commission, once to an unexpired term, and then to a full term."

Scottdale Rebel Fireman Wins Fight Round

SCOTTDALE, Pa., March 21.—The Community Hose Company, insurgent, won a round from the Scottdale Fire Department, official fighting force, in their long drawn out battle last night, when Policeman W. H. Shallenberger was held for court on a charge of assault and battery. Robert Barkell, insurgent fireman, who sat on a fireplug, during a recent fire, and prevented the Scottdale department attaching a hose until forcibly removed was discharged. It was while arresting Barkell that Policeman Shallenberger is said to have used too much force.

To clear dull skin ... banish INTESTINAL POISONS
... this new safe natural way

A CLEAR, fresh, velvety skin. Rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes. A youthful face to arouse admiration and envy, everywhere. Wouldn't you want a complexion like that?

You can have it—easily! Science now banishes skin flaws by getting at their real cause—INTESTINAL POISONS.

According to medical authorities, more than 90% of physical ailments start in the digestive area. A bad complexion means that the intestinal tract is clogged with poisons. It shows that these poisons are spreading through the whole body and robbing you of health and beauty. They make the liver sluggish. They bring headaches and indigestion. Then your face breaks out. You feel cross, tired, "blue."

But a remarkable new discovery, called Zilatone, now rids the body of intestinal poisons—by supplying the very same agents that Nature employs to keep the body healthy and vigorous. It activates the liver. Stimulates a flow of bile and other digestive juices. Cleanses the intestines. Checks further putrefaction. Purifies the blood. Soon blemishes begin to disappear. Your cheeks get rosier, your eyes livelier. You feel more vigorous, more efficient. People begin to notice you. Your general appearance commands attention and envy.

Physicians also recommend Zilatone for the treatment of heart and kidney disorders, high blood pressure, general debility and premature old age when due to Auto-Intoxication.

Begin taking Zilatone today. If it fails to delight you, money gladly refunded. Sold at most all good druggists.

Zilatone is recommended and sold in this city by All May's Drug Stores and other live druggists.

PATROLMAN IN HOSPITAL, SUSPENDED

An argument over operation of a radio set resulted in Patrolman Amos Dachroth, former city detective, being taken to the Allegheny General Hospital last night suffering from contusions of the head and three fractured ribs. He was ordered suspended from duty and a disorderly conduct charge was placed against him when Capt. Anthony Block was told that Dachroth created a scene in his home at 1310 East street by arresting Earl Allison, 23, son of Dachroth's alleged common-law wife, Mrs. Emma Allison, for tuning in on a radio program.

Dachroth suffered his injuries in a battle with Allison. Both will be given hearings when Dachroth is able to leave the hospital.

SECOND TO BE TRIED

An anonymous telephone call informing North Side police that Traffic Patrolman John Ihall, of 604 Suismon street, had chased his son, Thomas, 22, out of his home after firing several shots at him, resulted in the arrest and suspension of the policeman.

He was discharged this morning at a hearing before Magistrate Edward Hough when Ihall and his son testified that the shooting, which occurred two months ago, was accidental.

Ihall admitted he had become embroiled in an argument with his son. An hour later, when his son had retired, Ihall said his revolver fell from his holster and discharged, the bullet lodging in the ceiling. Thomas verified his father's testimony.

Ihall will be arraigned before the Police Trial Board on a charge of conduct unbecoming an officer.

SEEK WOUNDED PROWLER

Police today were searching for a prowler believed to have been wounded in an attempt to burglarize a home in Juniata street, late last night.

Saved from trip to hospital

Doctor told this man how to avoid a common cause of rupture

LIKE so many, this man had a slight tendency to hernia. The doctor who examined him said there was no real rupture, only a weakness.

"Go easy," he warned, "and above all don't strain yourself in any way. One of the most common causes of rupture is excessive straining to relieve a congested system. Yet so few people ever suspect it. For one thing, take Nujol regularly. It will probably save you a trip to the hospital. I advise all my patients who've had abdominal operations to take it, too, to avoid the danger of another break."

Nujol, taken regularly, avoids this risk. It provides an easy, natural method of regulating body functions. Keeps everything normal without effort. It not only prevents the excess of body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but aids in their removal.

A surprising number of people—men especially—are susceptible to hernia. Take a tip from this man's experience and play safe. Take Nujol regularly. Nujol was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey). Try it for 3 months and you'll never want to be without it again.

In good shape again

It certainly can do no harm to try it. Nujol contains absolutely no drugs or medicine. And it may save you real trouble. Be sure you get the genuine.

PIT YAWNS FOR HOUSES

MINE CAVE-IN THREATENS 12 HOMES

MONESSEN, Pa., March 21.—On a 20-foot shell of earth over deep mine workings, 12 homes on the Bellemont plan, at North Bellevernon, are on the verge of a complete cave-in.

One area, about 100 feet by 40 feet, has sunk more than two feet, leaving the residence of S. J. Bell at a crazy angle. Water and gas mains in Pell street were shattered as the comparatively thin crust of earth began to give.

Bell's family has moved from the home, a $7,000 six-room frame. Today crews of workmen are speeding up jobs of propping up other homes with temporary wooden framework in the mine pits below.

Across Pell street from the Bell home, the front porch of the residence of D. W. Krepps has dropped down below the house level.

Residents of the district knew nothing of the mine workings, and have been unable to locate the entrance. They have gained access to the pits through holes in a field near the Bell home, where the surface caved in completely.

The Bellemont plan was opened five years ago, and all the houses there have been built since then. Several families are preparing to move today or tomorrow.

PLAN CONCERT FOR SUNDAY

The second concert of the season by the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, will be given Sunday night at Syria Mosque, at which time Margaret Matzenauer, leading contralto of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will be the soloist.

Madame Matzenauer enjoys a world-wide reputation and the Pittsburgh public has been awaiting her appearance here since the concert in which she was scheduled to appear here was cancelled March 6 of last year, because of the protest of the Sabbath Association to symphony concerts on Sunday. Since then the courts have ruled favorably to Sunday concerts and the first one of the season given at Syria Mosque February 26 proved a great success.

Madame Matzenauer will sing two arias with the orchestra, "Oh Don Fatale" from Don Carlos, and "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from Samson and Delilah. The latter is the one for which the noted singer is most widely known and for which there have been numerous requests here.

AUTO INJURY CASE AIRED

The Supreme Court yesterday heard the appeal of the Holland Furnace Company in the personal injury case of Foster N. McCullough, awarded $5,195 by a Lawrence county jury. The furnace company objected to McCullough, who is a professional magician, from calling a witness to give testimony as to the value of his show, but Judge Thomas J. Prather, who heard the case, permitted the witness, Charles Krantz, to testify. One of the Holland Furnace Company's trucks collided with an automobile which McCullough was driving, severely injuring the magician. The point the Supreme Court has been asked to decide involves the right of a witness to give testimony before a jury on the value of a stage attraction.

Fairyland Becomes a Real Place By Woodman Thompson's Settings For Alvin "Iolanthe"

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

GEORGE SEIBEL

PITTSBURGHERS had an opportunity last night to see the marvelously beautiful settings one of their fellow townsmen, Woodman Thompson, has designed for "Iolanthe," second of the Gilbert and Sullivan operas to be presented here at the Alvin Theater. The Arcadian landscape in the first act and the Westminster Palace Yard in the second are both enchanting and convincing—the Westminster scene so breathlessly realistic that the audience burst into spontaneous applause when the curtain rose. The costumes also were designed by Mr. Thompson, and give the airy touch needed to make the whole dream-like fabric of this lovely operetta seem possible. Woodman Thompson really shared honors with Gilbert and Sullivan.

"Iolanthe" is musically even more melodious than "The Mikado." Here Sullivan has created some of his most lilting lyrics. Here he has scored graceful dances—and has written some of his wittiest music for the patter songs. In these and in most of the dialogue, W. S. Gilbert also achieved some of his happiest humor, prodding with sly innuendoes the House of Lords and other sacred British institutions. "Iolanthe" is like a handful of jewels reflecting moonbeams and elfin laughter.

The opera was interpreted by an exceptionally competent cast. Vocally the honors went to William C. Gordon as Private Willis of the Grenadier Guards, and to Vera Ross as Queen of the Fairies. By his delicate comedy Fred Wright won the favor of the audience in the part of the Lord Chancellor. William Williams looked handsome and sang well as Strephon the Shepherd, and Bettina Hall played Iolanthe as daintily as if her wings had been filched from a butterfly. Lois Bennett as Phyllis, the Shepherdess and Ward in Chancery, had demure and pretty grace. John Barclay, J. Humbird Duffey, Suissabell Sterling, Virginia Fox, and Paula Langlen all played and sang well in their several roles, while George C. Lehrian as the train-bearer had a most amusing make-up and displayed grotesque agility in his dances.

The audience was not what it should have been in numbers, but atoned fully in enthusiasm. Which is not to be wondered at, for this production of "Iolanthe" would bring cheer into a convention of morticians. Tonight the same company will sing that other favorite, "The Pirates of Penzance."

UNION CHARGES "REBELS" PAID BY OPERATORS

Charges that Patrick Toohey, John Brophy and Powers Hapgood are being paid by non-union coal operators to stir up radical dissension against officers of the United Mine Workers were made in resolutions passed by representatives of 69 local unions of Northern West Virginia at Clarksburg, W. Va., yesterday.

The resolution, aimed to discredit the "Save the Union Conference" scheduled to be held in Pittsburgh April 1 by alleged radical members of Mine Workers, charges in effect that the conference is being fostered by "groups of Industrial Workers of the World, Communists and other destructive elements active with their most vile and pernicious propaganda against officers and members of the United Mine Workers under leadership of malefactors and renegades, among them being Toohey, Brophy and Hapgood, whom we firmly believe are paid by the non-union coal operators."

These three men have been speaking at numerous meetings throughout the Pittsburgh district lately, advocating that the miners send delegates to the Save the Union conference.

HIT BY GARBAGE WAGON; GETS $12,000 DAMAGES

B. F. Santee was awarded a $12,000 verdict by a Common Pleas Court jury in his suit for damages for personal injuries instituted against the Allegheny Garbage Company. A street car collided with the garbage wagon in East Ohio street, February 19, 1925.

SAYS COAL OFFICIAL ADMITTED "CLEAN-UP" LETTER

CLERIC REVEALS MINES VICE HOTBED

pital for months, said the witness, and might have died.

Mr. Nowell told of a coal and iron policeman named Dale who got drunk and fired his revolver indiscriminately. Another coal and iron policeman, named Redpath, was also accused by the minitser of disorderly conduct.

On April 12 of last year, Mr. Nowell asserted, a woman was stabbed to death by a Negro in the camp.

On April 14, the minister swore, he caught a bootlegger peddling liquor in the camp, actually seeing the liquor, and demanded that Corp. Shea arrest the man, but the corporal refused.

"Vice Protected"

Mr. Nowell said the coal and iron police had warned constables to stay away and off the Pittsburgh Coal Company property, notwithstanding the unwillingness of coal and iron police to act against bootleggers. Five hundred quarts of liquor were found, the minister said, in two houses, the addresses of which he furnished.

Mr. Nowell said David Hughes, a coal and iron policeman, told him Corp. Shea was being paid a commission or bribe by the bootleggers for "protection."

Mr. Nowell created a stir by testifying that he had been told by an official of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, whose name he said it could not be fair to disclose, that the letter from the Pittsburgh Coal Company to the mine superintendents, warning them to clean up their camps in preparation for the visit of the investigating committee, had actually been written and sent, notwithstanding that it has been denounced by the company as a forgery. The unnamed official who gave him this information, Mr. Nowell said, told him the mine superintendents had been particularly warned to keep the coal and iron police in the background when the senators arrived.

"Senators Coming!"

On the Saturday immediately preceding the senators' visit, Mr. Nowell said the official told him, the mine superintendents were summoned to the Pittsburgh office of the coal company and told, in a conference, to get their camps into shape for the senators.

Don Rose, attorney for the Pittsburgh Coal Company, arose when Mr. Nowell had finished testifying, and again declared that the "clean up" letter was a forgery. He demanded that Mr. Nowell be compelled to disclose the name of the official who gave him his information, and also that Harry T. Brundidge, St. Louis newspaperman, who first told the investigating committee about the letter and furnished a copy of it, be required to give the name of the Pittsburgh Coal Company employe from whom he said he bought the letter for $25. The committee said it would consider the matter.

Oliver K. Eaton, of counsel for the United Mine Workers, showed the committee a fac-simile, in the Sun-Telegraph, of the so-called "spirited letter" to employes of the Pittsburgh Coal Company sent out by President J. D. A. Morrow, in advance of the senators' coming, and referred to in the letter to the mine superintendents, the authenticity of which is questioned.

Mark Shields, Pittsburgh newspaperman, the next witness, told of going to Harrisburg to find out how many coal and iron policemen had been commissioned in Pennsylvania. He submitted reports showing that on January 1, 1927, while the companies employing coal and iron police reported 1,342 such officers employed, the records in the Governor's office showed 3,982 commissions as coal and iron policemen in effect.

On November 12, 1927, Shields testified, the Pittsburgh Coal Company reported it had 119 coal and iron policemen, but the Governor's records showed 255 commissions had been issued to the company. Shields said revocations of coal and iron policemen's commissions were "practically negligible."

W. D. Reese, of McKeesport, an employe of the United Mine Workers, testified that he went to Harrisburg and endeavored to examine the coal and iron police records, but was denied permission to see them, on the ground they were "the Governor's private property."

Accuses Schwab

Van A. Bittner, of Crafton, Pa., chief representative of the United Mine Workers' international organization in Northern West Virginia, was the next witness.

He testified that the United Mine Workers there have been on strike four years. The strike was caused, he declared, by the action of the operators in abrogating a contract made with the United Mine Workers in 1924.

"Charles M. Schwab," he asserted, "was the first operator in northern West Virginia to abrogate his wage agreement—and this notwithstanding that he goes 'our' the country making speeches to the effect that there is no labor trouble in his companies."

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was another operator who broke the contract with the United Mine Workers, Bittner said, his Consolidation Coal Company having been a party to the contract.

Schwab, who is interested in the coal business through his Bethlehem Mines Corporation, a subsidiary of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, and Rockefeller have been subpenaed to appear before the Senate committee Friday.

Wage Pacts Aired

Bittner read the names of the signatories of the wage agreement that the coal companies repudiated. Among them was that of E. S. McCullough, at that time labor commissioner for West Virginia. McCullough was subsequently employed by the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, although paid for his services by the Pittsburgh Coal Company, in a futile campaign to destroy the United Mine Workers' organization in the Pittsburgh district.

The Baltimore contract which the West Virginia operators in 1924 entered into with the United Mine Workers, then numbering 27,000 in Northern West Virginia, was read by Bittner, and appeared to be an even stronger and more binding compact than the Jacksonville agreement which the Pittsburgh Coal Company repudiated. Bittner said that the West Virginia operators who broke the Baltimore contract had gone farther than the Pittsburgh Coal Company.

Freight Rate Factor

Bittner said that in consideration of freight differentials between the West Virginia and Pittsburgh fields, the basic wage of the Baltimore agreement was $7.26 a day, as compared with $7.50 a day in the Jacksonville agreement.

The Bethlehem Mines Corporation, said Bittner, abrogated the contract at its mines in Marion county, West Virginia, in August, 1924, or shortly after the agreement was signed. The general manager, he said, stated that he had received instructions from New York to cease operating the mines on the union scale.

This was under discussion when the midday recess was taken.

WINDBER WOMAN, HURT IN FALL ON STEPS, DIES

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., March 21.—A fall downstairs at her home Sunday night caused the death yesterday of Mrs. John Sala, 62, of Windber. She suffered a fracture of the skull.

S-4 FLAG BLOCKS

probe of the undersea craft in drydock here today, reconstructed the awful picture of the last hours of the submarine men 102 feet below the surface. One of the crew, George Pelnar, scribbled with a red crayon on a piece of cardboard a last message—"My body to Pelnar, 5603 South 19th st., Omaha, Neb." At this address lives Pelnar's mother, Mrs. Kate Mieziva.

MEN'S FATE

Briefly, this is the terrible story of the fate of the men of submarine S-4:

As the ship was rammed to the bottom, water entered the battery room slowly. The torpedo room and control room watertight doors were closed.

Officers started the pumps working, in an effort to clear the battery room.

The water continued to rise in the battery room, entered the batteries and generated chlorine gas.

A pipe, used for an exhaust when the ship is submerged, collapsed between the battery room and the control room, where had gathered 34 men.

Water began to enter the control room through a valve. The men in the control room tried to stop the valve, but an American flag and the piece of green curtain was pushed by the water from the battery room side of the valve, clogging it, and finally the valve burst.

As the sea water ran into the control room blinding flashes and sizzling insulation flared up from the switchboard.

The crew was forced to retreat to the engine room and every effort was made to prevent the seepage of water from the control room to the engine room.

Next to the engine room is the tiller room, where are kept the supplies.

The entombed men had dragged raw potatoes, raw onions and cans of sardines from the tiller room. These they ate to keep alive.

WATER CREEPS UP

A bale of rags, used in cleaning the machinery, was found in the tiller room and was used by the men to cover themselves to keep warm.

Like Lieut. Graham Newell Fitch and his five men in the torpedo compartment, the men in the engine-room hammered out signals on the steel walls, but these signals never reached the surface.

The 34 men, perhaps, hoping against hope that they would be saved, lay in the darkened chamber for hours, covered by rags, with their only food raw potatoes, raw onions and sardines.

Finally the water forced them to their feet.

It was cold and some of them collapsed. They were brought to their feet by their comrades. Time after time the men fell. Each time they rose to their feet. But finally the water reached up to their chests, and weakened, they dropped and were drowned.

Meanwhile, the six remaining men in the torpedo compartment were listening to Lieut. Fitch tap out his messages with a socket wrench.

"The Sun-Telegraph, youngest of the Hearst newspapers, greets the Toledo Leader-ship, New York American plane, extends its good wishes to the crew, and bids them Godspeed on their flight to the coast."

"Got you O. K." came back from the plane.

Listeners heard the exchange of messages and demonstrated that the conversation between earth and sky had at last been accomplished and is practical under all conditions.

Kirwan Flannery, of Greenfield avenue, picked up the messages at 4:09 p. m. and heard the conversation between plane and the ground until the big Stinson-Detroiter monoplane landed in Bettis Field 15 minutes later.

A. W. McAuly, at his amateur station, HCEO, Oakmont, heard the airships's signals from the moment it left Washington and copied the following press radiogram broadcast by the plane while it was flying over Western Maryland:

"En route Washington to Pittsburgh on New York American plane—William McCracken, Assistant Secretary of War, made an inspection and expressed great enthusiasm at the new radio set which the ship carries.

"The set is a complete transmitting and receiving telephone and telegraph apparatus recently perfected by the Radio Corporation of America in co-operation with its associated companies. Its organization is co-operating with the New York American on the coast-to-coast flight of the plane. W. C. Fisk, R. C. A. engineer, is accompanying as radio operator."

Soon after the plane landed telephone wires to KDKA burned with messages from listeners who had picked up the messages and had been welcome eavesdroppers to the conversation between the aviators and The Sun-Telegraph representative and KDKA announcers and operators. An effort will be made to have a further demonstration of the radio conversations as the plane resumes its journey westward tomorrow.

Capt. H. Gordon Smith, aviation director, New York American, is in charge of the tour which will follow the "Pittsburgh Route" from the Atlantic to the Pacific Oceans. Other members of the party are Lieut. G. W. Hopkins, pilot, W. G. Fisk, Radio Corporation of America engineer, Richard J. Wall, National Airplane Safety Council and John C. Ingram, aviation department, New York American.

SURE SHE'S ENGAGED

VICTORIA BOSHKO BOCHCO

Mrs. Victoria Boshko Bochco, divorcee and concert pianist, insists she's engaged to Col. Henry Dickinson Lindsley, former national commander of the American Legion, and that he announced the engagement at a tea in his New York apartment. How, asks the colonel, can he be engaged to her when he's already married? His attorneys will answer, friends say.

OUSTED K. K. K.'S PUT ONE OVER

ERIE, Pa., March 21.—Federal Judges W. H. S. Thomson and F. P. Schoonmaker, presiding jointly in Federal Court here today, granted a motion which will allow the introduction of a deposition made by D. C. Stephenson, former head of the Ku Klux Klan in Indiana, now serving a life term in prison, in a civil action to restrain the Klan from operating in Pennsylvania.

The motion was presented by Attorney Van A. Barrickman, of Pittsburgh, who represents five former officials of the state klan who were ousted from the organization last year and now seek to bar the order from the state.

Attorney Van Barrickman apparently slipped a fast one over on the klan.

Judge R. M. Gibson, in Pittsburgh Federal Court, today saw Attorney M. J. Hosack, klan counsel, in his courtroom, and inquired his pleasure. "I'm waiting for Attorney Barrickman; he told me he intended to file the Stephenson deposition today and I wish to oppose it," Mr. Hosack replied.

Soon afterward court was adjourned. Apparently Mr. Barrickman had neglected to inform the klan that he intended to file the deposition at Erie instead of in Pittsburgh.

FIDDLES AFTER FLOOD

A. ROMO

Nero fiddled while Rome burned, but he didn't get a chance to fiddle after the waters from the broken St. Francis dam washed through California. A Romo, above, did—joyfully, too, even though he had only a chair, violin, his life and a couple of soggy mattresses left.

12 YEARS FOR 'LOVE' MURDER

Mrs. Nellie Williams, Negro, about 30 years old, of 67 Logan street, was sentenced to the workhouse for six to 12 years by Visiting Judge Miles I. Potter in Criminal Court yesterday. She withdrew her plea of not guilty to a charge of murder, and when she pleaded guilty, the court fixed the crime at second degree murder.

She fatally stabbed Mrs. Laura Charity, Negro, of 314 Bell avenue McKees Rocks, at a party in the latter's home the night of October 12. Jealousy over "Slick," a Negro beau, was declared the motive.

Weather Conditions.

The high pressure area that covered the greater portion of the country yesterday morning, has increased somewhat in pressure and it still covers practically the whole country, with its crest over Eastern Texas and Western Louisiana. Highest pressure 30.50 inches.

The pressure is still low over New England and a low pressure area is developing eastward over Canada. It is centered over Manitoba this morning. Another low appears off the North Pacific coast. It is producing rain over the Washington and Oregon coasts.

Due to the vast area of high pressure the skies are clear over practically the entire country. The temperatures are above freezing over the Plains States section and still rising.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Law of Compensation Works in Social News, Events Few But Varied in Lent

SOMETIMES one is forced to admit the law of compensation is seen occasionally even in society during the Lenten season; for, though news is surely scarce, what events we do hear of are varied. Reports of Pittsburghers reach us from all over the world. And at the same time there is always something happening at home despite the Lenten ban on social life.

We've just heard of an engagement from California. You remember, I'm sure, Mrs. Laura S. Banks, formerly of Oakmont, who is now living in Pasadena. She has just announced the engagement of her daughter, Laura Louise, to John Carroll Shoe, of Pittsburgh, son of the John B. Shoes of Philadelphia. No date has been set yet for the wedding.

Again we hear of one of the debutantes of the last season—Mary Childs, daughter of the James H. Childs of Albemarle avenue. Mary has been spending some time, you'll recall, at Aiken. Recently the Axe Club of Aiken sponsored a wood-chopping contest for women as well as men. And among those entering this novel contest was Mary. Another entrant you all know, too, Anita Shields of Philadelphia and New York, sister of Mrs. Harry Darlington, who came out in the fall in New York.

The girls and men who will be members of the bridal party at the wedding of Margaret Keith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Keith, of Warrenton, Va., and James Christy Hamilton, son of Mrs. Alfred Reed Hamilton, of Woodland road, on April 10, have just been named. Margaret has chosen Eleanor K. Duffey, of her home town, to be her maid of honor, and for her bridesmaids she will have her three sisters, Betsy, Julia and Fanny; also Sarah Gillespie Hamilton, sister of her fiance, and Mary Forbes King, Frances Carter, Margaret Avery and Helen Horner, all of Warrenton.

Malcolm B. Hamilton is going to be his brother's best man, and the ushers will include Alfred Reed Hamilton, Jr., Richard King Mellon, John S. Hess, R. Maurice Trimble, Jr., Walton Scully, Charles Thornton Garrison and William L. Standish, all of Pittsburgh; Richard B. Scandrett, of New York, and Lucien Keith II, of Warrenton. The flower girls will be Rita and Betty Nash, of Warrenton.

Miss Asenath E. Cavitt, of Roslyn Place, has just returned from London. Before long she will leave for Williamsburg, Mass., I expect, where the Cavitt sisters have their summer home, "Oldcobb Farm."

A pretty home wedding of tonight will be that of Ruth Emily Seaman, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Denny, of Howe street, and Thomas McNeil IV, son of Thomas McNeil, Jr. The ceremony at 7 o'clock will be performed by the Rev. Dr. Percival H. Barker, pastor of the Point Breeze Presbyterian Church, and for it an improvised altar of greens and Ascension lilies has been arranged.

The bride is to be given away by her brother, Herbert Bosley Seaman, and she will wear a gown of white Callot satin and rose point lace, with a court train of satin edged with lace. Her tulle veil will be held in place with a cap of rose point and orange blossoms, and she will carry a shower of white lilacs and lilies of the valley.

Ruth is having three attendants, her two sisters, Evelyn Farley Seaman and Ellie Seaman, as maid of honor and flower girl, and Margaret Campbell, the bridesmaid. They will all wear frocks of peach chiffon, that of the maid of honor being in a deeper shade than the others, and they will carry Dresden bouquets.

Henry Clay Givan, of Columbia, S. C., will be best man and the ushers will include Albert Stanley Davis, Jr., David G. Hill and David Martin Seaman.

A dinner and reception will be held after the ceremony, with covers laid for eight at the bridal table. The young McNeils will take a trip to Bermuda and when they return about May 1 they will be at home in Portland Manor, Stanton avenue.

Tonight at 6:30 o'clock, the marriage of Miss Lavina May Eckert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Eckert, of Kendall avenue, Bellevue, and James G. Campbell, of Wilmington, Del., son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Campbell, of Camp Hill, Harrisburg, will be solemnized in the Eckert home by the Rev. Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, pastor of the Bellevue Presbyterian Church. The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will wear shell pink chiffon and will carry sweetheart roses, lilies of the valley and white wedding roses. Mrs. Lawrence Reed Nelson, of Altoona, as matron of honor, will appear in green chiffon and ecru lace and will carry spring flowers. Beverly Anne Biers, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Biers, of Bellevue, niece of the bride, will be flower girl, wearing pink crepe de chine and lace and carrying a Colonial bouquet. Robert Naegely, of Philadelphia, will be best man, and the wedding music will be played by Miss Henrietta Eckert, sister of the bride. A dinner will follow the service, with covers laid for 35, including the families and a few friends. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will spend their honeymoon in New York and later will be at home temporarily in the Dupont-Biltmore Hotel, Wilmington.

THE DIVORCE MILL

BEATEN OFTEN

Evelyn Barnett Finn, 24, of 7045 Race street, who has two children, in divorce court charged her husband frequently struck her and once knocked her down. Mrs. Finn, married in Wellsburg, W. Va., in 1922, says her husband is a mail carrier.

SPURNED "IN-LAWS"

It took Olga Raitspaiss, 22, of 18 Oakland Square, and her husband, Richard Raitspaiss, former "Pitt" student, five weeks to disagree and the fair Olga was in divorce court yesterday. She testified before Judge John A. Evans that her husband threatened to kill her parents if they should come to America, so she is sailing Saturday for Budapest. She wept all the time she was on the stand. She said that at the time of their marriage last August she supposed her husband to be a physician, but he did not finish his course at Pitt. Mrs. Raitspaiss charges cruel and barbarous treatment. Judge Evans did not indicate when a decision would be made. Attorney Jacob Shulgold is her counsel.

SPAFFORD LEGION DINNER SPEAKER

Passage of the Capper-Johnson bill, embodying the principle of universal draft and looking toward prevention of war profiteering, is the biggest single task confronting the American Legion today, National Commander E. E. Spafford declared in an address last night at the sixth annual legion banquet of Allegheny county, held in the William Penn Hotel.

"Universal draft does not mean conscription of capital or labor," Spafford said, "for, under the constitution, we can neither seize property without compensation nor force a man to work at unfair wages. It means rather control of commerce—that is, fixation of prices and wages, immediately upon declaration of war, to prevent inflation. Inflation was the hag that rode our backs in the late war, and it must not appear in the next."

Spafford expressed himself as opposed to treaties which would require the United States to submit to arbitration in all disputes.

James F. Malone, Council president; State Commander E. E. Hollenback, and Maj. Thomas Garfield Sterrett, sheriff of Erie county, were other speakers.

SUNNYSIDE MINER DIES. CAUGHT IN MACHINERY

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., March 21.—Caught in machinery in the Sunnyside mine, Allen M. Chapman, 27, was killed. His neck was broken.

FREE OFFICER OF FRAUD

Joseph P. Wallisik, constable of Greentree borough, was acquitted of a charge of fraudulent conversion by a jury in Criminal Court yesterday before Visiting Judge Frank L. Harvey after about six hours' deliberation. The jury ordered the costs divided between the defendant and Albert Krebs, tax collector, the prosecutor.

Wallisik was accused of converting to his own use $78.50 of about $1,000 in delinquent tax collected by him for Krebs. He denied retaining any of the collections, declaring that he turned all over to Krebs. Assistant District Attorney J. E. Kaison and Attorney M. Barney Cohen were opposing counsel.

Millions call it

"The best of all mealtime drinks!" Make the personal health test

—and you'll know why!

SLEEPLESSNESS, nervousness—these and many other reasons have prompted people to start drinking Postum. But they have continued drinking it for one reason only—because they found it was the best of all mealtime drinks for them!

Nor did they make this decision overnight. They made Postum their mealtime drink for thirty days, in place of beverages containing the drug caffein. They found they missed nothing in enjoyment—that Postum is a great drink in its own right. A drink made of roasted whole wheat and bran, with a rich, enticing aroma, and a smooth, full-bodied flavor.

Health gains, too!

These Postum "testers" found that Postum agreed with them, too—that, unlike caffein beverages, it never kept them awake, never attacked their nerves or heart, or caused indigestion. On a basis of results, they decided, at the end of thirty days, to make Postum their mealtime drink for life!

After all, isn't it sensible to give up something that hurts you for something that helps you, when you lose nothing in enjoyment by the change? Today—decide to give Postum a fair trial! Try it for thirty days! Your grocer has Postum in two forms—Instant Postum, prepared instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, the kind you boil. Both cost much less than most other mealtime drinks. Order today!

Eventually it is planned to organization a new International Cables Company, also under the chairmanship of Mr. Mackey, to take charge of the operation of the Commercial Cables.

The consolidated companies will operate a communications system extending from Europe to and throughout the United States, with connecting lines in Canada and Mexico; cable systems extending to South America and Europe; telephone systems in Mexico, the West Indies and South America, and radio service to supplement the existing cable and wire systems.

GUFFEY TO GET REFUND

A. E. Guffey, former postmaster, will be reimbursed $2 under a bill passed by the Senate yesterday, according to news dispatches. He was charged with that amount in 1920 because the bond of Henry G. Schuster, former superintendent of the North Side postal station, was insufficient to cover postal funds alleged to have been embezzled by him. Schuster was convicted and served 18 months in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

DANDRUFF
Soon Destroys the Hair

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

PORTER SURE DOPE FARM BILL WILL PASS

Why We Behave Like Human Beings

by George A. Dorsey, Ph.D., LL.D.

Love a Better Tonic for Man Than Rage or Fear

Emotions Begin in Infancy, Become Bottled and Find Curious Outlets Later

The balanced man rarely commits such crimes as theft, kidnaping, suicide, Dr. Dorsey said yesterday and he told why: these things are not in his individual experience, and it is the co-ordination of experiences which makes up individual behavior. Getting accustomed to gradual change, as of a wife from 20 to 50, exhibits human powers of adaptation.

Love, Fear, Hate Grow Together

CHAPTER XXXVII.

A NURSE bathes a child each day, first tickling its feet or pinching its nose. A habit grows up, functioning like an instinct on reflex arcs. The mere sight of the nurse calls out a gurgle or a rage. If the nurse wears a blue dress habitually, the blue dress is enough. If the baby knows only one blue dress and that pinch, any blue dress becomes enough for gurgle or a fit.

GEORGE A. DORSEY

We come to hate everything associated with our early hates; afraid of everything associated with early fears. The random fears and rages come to be attached to new objects not contemplated in the original scheme of kill-or-cure emotional reinforcement. They become specific. The baby is not naturally afraid of lightning; it is afraid of a sudden crash. Nor is it naturally afraid of darkness, snakes, strangers, graveyards or black cats.

Our emotions are conditioned in the same nursery in which our growing body learns its first steps. As the movements of motor mechanism become habits and so function on smooth-running reflex arcs, the emotions themselves become organized; the live-or-die glands and the autonomic nerves learn special modes of behavior. They take on habits, learn new responses, acquire new friends, new foes, new fears. The mouth waters under certain conditions. Fear is called out under certain conditions. Certain persons, things, situations, call out tantrums, cries, rages; others are sources of attachment, loves.

Beginnings of Temper

Practice makes perfect—hates and fears as well as tennis-players and card sharps. One does not naturally love a cat or hate a nurse or fear a mouse. But with practice the threshold is lowered, the message gets a quicker response. Only intense stimuli at first called out these emotional responses. But a youngster "nearly scared to death" is already on the way to be a coward. The child "nearly tormented to death" has laid the foundation for a vicious temper.

It is like a cork. First time out requires effort. Thereafter, any old corkscrew will suffice. By and by, a thumbnail.

The function of emotion is quick action and a long memory. If I am the victim of a $100 counterfeit bill to oblige a stranger who needs change, I am not likely to oblige the next stranger requiring change. I might even "take it out on him." We do such things. The horse-buyer knows that a horse which has had the mange does not forget it; it is tied in. He strokes the flank of a prospective purchase. Lip quivers; that horse had the mange.

Love, fear and hate start out together; they grow up together. Meanwhile, the reflex which enables the newborn to support its body by its hands soon disappears; the human mother does not hang her baby on a limb to dry, nor does the infant have to cling to her while she climbs down a tree. It disappears from lack of use. The primitive hate and fear types of behavior would also disappear if they were not at once set to work.

Blind Learning

The adjusting mechanism learns—only too blindly. Until we ourselves are blind. Having eyes, we see not what there is but what we think we see. We see with a body that by nature has a huge capacity to hate that which threatens us, to fear that which endangers us, to love that which protects and feeds and tickles us. Our ancestors had to have a fear-response to the new, the unexpected, the sudden and the strange.

There is no reason why we should jump, turn pale, sweat, gasp for breath, close our eyes and open our mouths, and feel creepy every time we hear thunder or backfire, or are left alone in the dark, or confront a novel and strange idea. Nor should the same emotion that makes us fear the novel and the strange impel us to hate reason—even though reason interfere with our routine behavior, including attitudes, desires, ideals, ambitions and loves. We do not get jealous of reason or want to fight it; but we do get so enraged at a book that we throw it in the fire, so mad at an opinion that we would like to crucify the man who expresses it.

The haunting fear in Dicken's day seems to have been poverty; the supreme dread, the almshouse. What is our haunting fear, our supreme dread? Have we progressed very far?

With "pep" we can make decisions, use our heads; but when the visceral nerves take charge, decisions are made for us—we are as human as iron filings around a magnet or famished hogs around a swill barrel. A man in a "towering rage" is more physically fit for murder than one in cold blood—that is what a towering rage is for, prepare the body for action with adrenin. Hate is biologically useful. Do we save it up for the hateful occasions and get the work out of it it can do, or squander it right and left?

New Schemes in Life

Fear and rage are twins; born of the same necessity. But we are born of human parents in a state of civilization. Civilization clings to savagery and brutality because fundamental emotional states are retained as weapons in the endless battles of religion, society, and nationality. Biologic fears, hates, and loves are put to a thousand uses that could never have been contemplated in the original scheme of evolution. That scheme says: If your neighbor's eye offend you, pluck it out; but that scheme made no provision for theft, swindling, lying, blackmail, slavery, war. Our scheme does.

Our bottled emotions find curious outlets: giggles, tears, laughter, shame, remorse, rage, grief, love, fear, as the case may be; and take us to fights, dances, games, theater, speculation, futile argument, Monte Carlo, or the Count of Monte Cristo; or they may end in hysteria, phobias, manias.

The big question for each one of us individually is whether our acquired repertoire of specific loves, fears and hates will suffice to keep us on good terms with ourselves and at peace with the world. Many a man loses his job because his viscera have never been educated nor his emotions trained.

Note, too, that, under stress of strong rage or fear, activity in the digestive system closes down, predisposing to intestinal disorders, including bacterial toxins and consequently to other far-reaching organic changes. Love, on the contrary, hastens food digestion and heightens metabolism. Love is a better tonic than rage or fear.

DOPE FARM ASSURED—PORTER

By WINIFRED BLACK.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Good news.

Heartening news—splendid news.

Here it is just as it came in over the wire:

U. S. Capitol,
Washington, D. C.
Editor, San Francisco Examiner:

Support from unexpected quarters, together with the splendid editorials in the Hearst papers, justifies the statement that the Narcotic Farms Bill will be reported favorably by the committee within a few days after the hearings, which will begin about March 26. Delighted beyond measure with the situation and quite confident of final passage within less than 60 days.

STEPHEN G. PORTER,
M. C.

When the Porter bill goes through Congress and becomes a law—what is it going to do for "dope" and the "dope" slaves?

It is going to do four very important things.

Number 1. Take care of the poor helpless slaves who are no longer able to take care of themselves. Take care of them with kindness, with science and understanding. Give them a chance to get well and make a new start in life—if there is any such thing as such a chance in the world.

Number 2. Keep the "dope" slaves and the "dope" peddlars off the streets and out of the cabarets, and out of the alleys, and away from the dance halls, and away from the pool halls, and the race tracks, and the big football games and the night clubs—put them where they cannot contaminate the innocent.

Number 3. Relieve the strain of terrible overcrowding in the Federal prisons. Keep the "dope" criminals away from the rest of the prisoners and change the Federal penal institutions into something at least half way manageable.

Number 4. Keep down the market for narcotic drugs.

Take the customers away—and you take away the market—take away the market and you cut down the supply.

We have won three skirmishes—the Harrison Narcotic Law was the first sharp battle between "dope" and the public opinion of the United States.

Public Opinion won.

Limitations of the manufacture of drugs—that was a splendid victory, too.

And now the Porter farms for addicts—but after that—what?

The "dope" ring is interested in all these affairs—desperately interested—why not? There's money in "dope."

There's a brand new kind of "dope." Two or three kinds, to be exact, and they call them in the "dope" ring "skid chains."

The "skid chains" are varieties of "dope" that were not included in the agreement concerning exportation and manufacture and importation—of The Hague convention of 1912 and the Geneva convention of 1925.

These "skid chains" were not specifically mentioned in the convention.

Opium, morphine, heroine, marihuana and cocaine—these were all mentioned by name in the convention—but the "skid chains" were not recognised as habit-forming "dope" at that time.

The "dope" ring knows all about them now.

Ecgonine—that comes from the cocoa leaf.

Eucodal-dicodid—brand new tortures—brand new drugs manufactured especially for the enslaving of human beings.

They're both the derivatives of morphia—brand new since the Health Committee of the League of Nations met—brand new and as dangerous as morphine or cocaine themselves—but not shut out under the law as yet.

Codeine is known by physicians to be simply an expensive form of opium, but somehow it is not classed as a habit-forming narcotic—not in all countries—as yet.

There's always a new trick up the sleeve—in the drug ring.

They don't smuggle dope directly in from the Orient any more. They have a trick worth two of that—smuggle it to Honolulu and then ship it in as bold as brass in some passenger's baggage—there's no customs search of Honolulu baggage in the ports of the Pacific.

When the Opium Committee of the League of Nations at Geneva asked the nations to enter an agreement to limit the manufacture of drugs—all the nations promised, and not one single nation has kept its promise—except the United States.

When will the countries of the world keep the promise they made at Hague convention?

When will England and Holland, Germany and France limit the production of narcotics as each one of them has already promised to do?

You can't make a narcotic drug in a still in the cellar. These things have to be made by an accurate, scientific process and made in large and accurately managed factories.

What is to prevent any honest government from keeping watch of these factories?

Seeping—seeping—seeping—it creeps by sea, by land, by "respectable" travelers, by wild adventurers. From China, from India, from Persia—the raw stuff—from England, from Holland, from Germany, from France, from our own American factories—the deadly finished product.

It is like creeping Johnny—the white mist that made it impossible for white men to live in the Canal Zone.

A man-life for every tie in the railroad that crossed the Isthmus—that was the toll.

But they found the source of the contagion and by draining the swamps and cleaning up the fever areas and keeping out the deadly insects that spread the contagion—they cleaned up the Canal Zone—they went to the source of the infection.

Isn't that what we must do when we try to fight the drug evil?

Get at the source. It isn't going to be easy. It isn't going to be simple. It will be a fight every inch of the way.

Hospital Seeks Funds

"O-OH, LOOK AT A MANS!"

BABIES OF THE POOR

To continue to care for these babies—children of the poor—the Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh is making a drive for an annual maintenance fund of $75,000. Eighty per cent of children at the hospital are charity patients.

ALL RACES

The work in pathology and research to save children of all races and all creeds from lives of misery, justifies all that is being spent. A small annual appropriation from the state leaves $75,000 expenses to be met.

"WE NEEDS HE'P, TOO"

LACK FUNDS

The facilities of the new building at Fifth avenue, near DeSota street, into which the hospital moved a year ago, after its affiliation with the University of Pittsburgh, cannot be used, because of lack of funds.

Picked Marines for Goodwill Prize---Will

THOMASVILLE, Ga., March 20—Certainly glad to see Col. Lindbergh got the Wilson prize "for the greatest contribution to international peace and good will." I thought for awhile there that the Marines would get that; they are the only Americans that have been in as many countries as Lindbergh.

WILL ROGERS

I am glad he is taking the Senators and Congressmen flying. If he can get them "air-broke" why they will all be boosters for it.

That was a smart trick doing that. Well, that's about all he does. Yours—

WILL ROGERS.

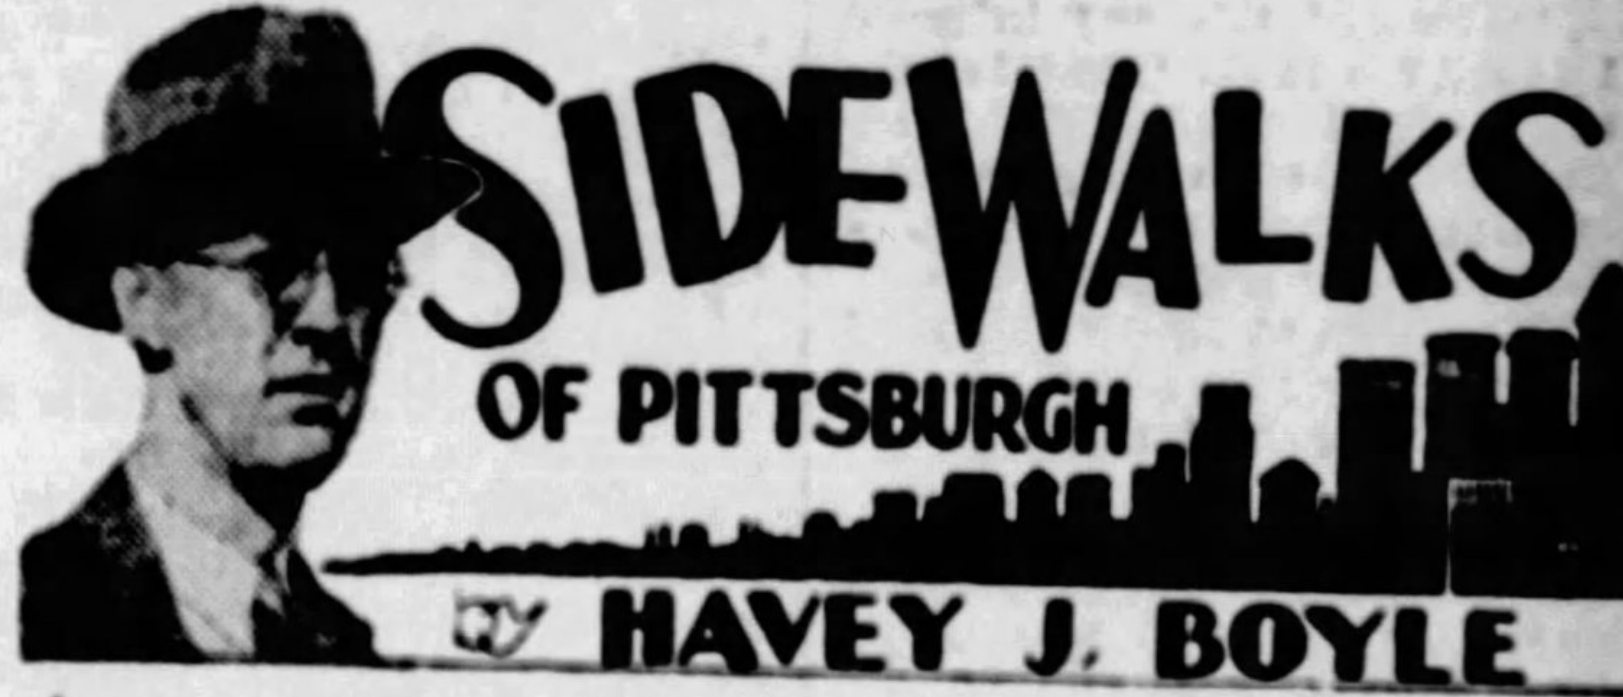
Believed Dead, Man Revives; Drunk

"He's only dead drunk," mused pedestrians at Wylie avenue and Chatham street late last night when the morgue ambulance arrived to get the body of a man who who was reported to have fallen dead.

Richard Smith, 45, unable to give his address, was showing signs of life. He rolled over on the sidewalk and moaned. Police were summoned and Smith was removed to the Central Station, where he was charged with drunkenness.



SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

BY HAVEY J. BOYLE

A VISIT to a hospital recalls what a learned man once said about the one hurdle imagination cannot make. That is that when one is in pain one cannot imagine how it feels to be well and when one is well one cannot imagine how it feels to be in pain.

We went to see John Gloninger in the Mercy Hospital the other day and after one sees the rows of beds and rows of rooms containing patients he wonders whether anyone is walking around free of pain.

There was Father Carroll, of East Pittsburgh, taking a stroll in the corridor, recuperating from an operation. In another room was John Egan, famous football referee, who is recovering from an illness, and in another room was young John Harris on the way to health again.

ONE of the patients was a man who had wrecked his car and himself in an unavoidable accident. For a week after the accident so keen was the pain coming from a triple compound fracture of a leg this particular patient didn't care much whether school kept or not. It was while he was in this mood that an automobile salesman, who is hereby awarded the leather medal for enterprise, visited his room and, after first asking how the patient was getting along, suggested that since the old machine was wrecked the patient had better sign on the dotted line for a new car.

LET'S HAVE IT ON THE DOTTED LINE FOR A NEW CAR!

SENATOR FRANK HARRIS was listening to this story when he recalled how the boys in the Amen corner "sympathized" with Joe Natalie when Joe was laid up a spell.

One of the boys used to call up Joe, bed-ridden, and say: "Are you going to be there for a few moments, Joe? If you are I'll drop in to see you." Asking a patient who was going to be laid up for a couple of months if he was going to be in for a few moments struck some of the Amen boys as rich humor. Which it was.

BUMPED into Walter Long, traffic policeman, at Forbes and Brady streets, now one of the busiest intersections in the city, due to the fact that the Boulevard of the Allies is closed, which throws a lot of the boulevard traffic into Walter's lap, so to speak, in Forbes street. Traffic worries have agreed with Long who started on the job no bigger than a welterweight and who now would answer the gong as a light-heavyweight.

South Side fans who drive to the ball games know Walter Long, as do East End travelers, for his courteous handling of the trade.

ONE of those indoor golf courses is going big downtown. Stopped in to meet a few friends there the other day and the links looked like the Schenley Park course on a holiday. Most of the holes are supposed to be made in one or two, but we saw Mark Hosenfelter chalking up a snappy four after one hole.

WHERE DO YOU GET THAT "ONE" STUFF ?
THERE'S ANOTHER "ONE" BESIDE IT!

Jerry Goes to the Studio And Hears Saxon Make A Date With Ora

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Jerry King, good looking, charming and nineteen, falls in love at first sight with Saxon Rhodes, a young architect. Marza, her fascinating mother, warns her that idealists like Saxon make poor husbands. In spite of his flirtation with other girls Jerry confesses her love for him, and when he goes abroad to study, promises to wait for him. She refuses a proposal of marriage from Heinie Ross, a wealthy suitor. Saxon comes home and tells her as soon as he has paid off five thousand dollars he owes, his uncle will take him into partnership. Jerry agrees to wait three years longer. She wonders whether Saxon loves her as completely as she loves him. Saxon calls on his sister who warns him against marrying anyone and facing poverty. Saxon's attention to Ora Pringle, charming divorcee, gives Jerry a pang of jealousy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"DON'T try to railroad me home," said Hal, doubling his fists. "I've got no home! Never going there again. I'm not drunk. Talk plain—don't I? I'm through."

They finally persuaded him to go with Heinie to John's studio. He could stay there as long as he liked.

He walked out with his arm about Heinie's shoulder mumbling incoherent advice: "You're lucky—you are. Let the dames alone! Don't be a damn fool like I was and let her marry you. Don't care who she is!"

An hour later—4 o'clock in the morning. Saxon helped a very subdued Carmen to the machine. The bracelets jingled. She slid them from her arms. She had a faint dread of the interview before them.

"Have a good time? Pretty gay, wasn't it?"

"In spots. Mostly noise, I thought."

Silence. After many blocks: "I'm sorry I wasn't around when you wanted me. Think you might have waited. You knew I wouldn't be gone long."

"I could have waited. But Hal couldn't. Then I saw you going up in the elevator and whistled. You didn't hear. And, of course, I knew it was useless to try and find you in that upper story bedlam."

He turned with a dark flush: "Were you upstairs?"

"Several times. I wanted to see what goes on in this night of freedom."

"Guess you saw plenty?"

"Oh, marvelous! I never need to go to another movie of Roman orgies. The couples were exceedingly kind or very heedless. Anyway, most of the doors were open."

He gave her an angry look.

She grinned. "I hope the indignant old lady in the night cap who went flashing down the corridors slapping faces and calling upon the management to put us all out didn't hit you."

He ignored this and informed through his teeth: "I got in with Ora's crowd and couldn't very well refuse when they ALL"—burning emphasis on the "ALL"—"went up for a drink."

"Then why so snooty because I got in with a poor sick friend and couldn't very well refuse to see him home?"

She looked into his face with a whimsical grin: "Saxon, I didn't pitch cold ginger ale in anbody's face. Why so chilly?"

"You're blaming me? You're as quiet as though I'd committed a crime."

"For what am I blaming you?"

"For Ora!"

Jerry slumped against the cushions and whistled musingly. "Do you imply, my dear wayward lover, that I've anything to fear from Ora? I admit she's a most risque and enchanting dame.

"But so am I. And she's too tall—an inch over your head. Such a masterful man as you wouldn't like that! You don't like them large-limbed—and Amazonic—do you?

"But cute and clever and—" she gave a merry laugh and snuggled against his shoulder: "Is she as kissable as I?"

He met her eyes and blinked.

She was comforted by this. "Saxon, why should I be jealous? Why, I think I'm so intriguing that you'd prefer me if you could have your pick—Helen—Cleopatra Venus. Real love is inevitable—like the affinity between chemicals. You're attracted by one and not by another. That's all there's to a genuine relation, simple and inexplicable as H2O.

"I don't want one of these affairs brought on by propinquity or expedience or gin! Unless you want me more than you want any other woman in the world—I don't want you AT ALL—now or ever."

"Oh, God," said he somberly and bringing the car to a stop before Jerry's door, "why does it never work out? Jerry, why does everyone think he has this kind of a love and everyone find himself fooled?"

"Oh—not everyone! There was Tristram and Isolde—Abelard and Heloise—

"The first is fiction—and the second a proof against you. . . ."

"No—Heloise loved to the end."

"Vera and Hal Stacey loved. You remember—why, only four years ago! They were ready to steal—to slave—anything that they might have each other."

"They got a sudden deluge of money and everything became too easy and Vera didn't play square."

Said he bitterly: "Too much money ended it for Vera and Hal—and too little money is ending it for Amy and Don—one thing or another something ends it for everyone—"

"We better quit before we begin—eh?"

"But why," said he doggedly, "do they make such grand blunders? Why do people keep on marrying?"

"We all think that we are unique—we will be different. I suppose that must be the reason—"

"Do you realize, Jerry, that if we could have married when we wanted to—that September two and a half years ago, we'd be on the verge of slaying each other now—like them?"

She shut her eyes. Suddenly she gave a happy laugh: "I still think we'd be different!"

At the door he held her hands. He seemed troubled: "Are you really not angry with me?"

"Not angry."

"And do you mean that about being jealous?"

She raised her face so that his eyes would look in hers. "Not jealous! Is anyone as fair as I? To YOU?"

"You are different!" said he, pulling her suddenly to him. "I'm sorry—oh, Jerry—I'm awfully sorry—"

"I don't care," said she. "Now I don't—don't care!"

She went whistling—lighthearted into the great empty living room. She walked about touching the books—pausing before a sketch Saxon had brought her from France.

"Isn't it lovely," she thought—then absently: "He kissed her and is sorry—"

She laughed softly.

The end of the week—a Friday evening at 7 o'clock she went to his office. She was just about at the turn when his door opened. Ora Pringle came out.

CHAPTER XXVII.

ORA was very tall—a regal Juno with black, luminous eyes and head carried proudly. She stepped out with fine, breezy vigor, then turned with that half-dreaming smile: "Sunday at 4."

Jerry heard the words distinctly and had a wild impulse to dash up and strike a fist in Ora Pringle's face. What was she doing in Saxon's office? What did this "Sunday at 4" mean?

With fast-beating heart Jerry watched the superb figure disappearing around the turn. She held herself hotly quiet.

"Don't go blazing in there now—let the whole world see what a fine fool you've turned out to be."

She went walking up one corridor, down another, fighting for self-control. She wanted to fling through his door, hurl angrily: "I saw her! Poisonous female! Sunday at 4!"

She was shaking with her fury and now leaned on the rail of a staircase and stared down through a shaft 14 stories deep. She repeated to herself: "What a fool—what a fool of a fool!"

She remembered suddenly a thing Marza was fond of saying: "The first error of the woman in love is to care the most; the last error is to let the man know that she cares the most!"

"Oh—but I hate this subterfuge—this playing a game! This need to conceal and hedge and pretend. Why can't we be ourselves—fearless—free—big about it! Why can't I fly in there and tell him to go to hell? Take her with him!"

Yes—why didn't she do this? Wasn't it the honest way? The courageous way? And the magnificent satisfaction of it!

She paused abruptly, tingling from head to foot with a sudden realization that she was only clamoring to do the utterly selfish thing. Her pride was hurt so she wanted to spring like a panther and tear at him—wanted only the honest animal satisfaction of hitting back and with twice the blow she had received. All civilization is only a hedging with impulses like this—a leashing the raw beast of us.

She smiled grimly: "Oh, it's myself I'm loving so finely—myself I'm wanting to avenge!"

There swept over her a great wave of longing: a vast maternal tenderness. Fling him to Ora Pringle? Make the way easy for a damn, dangerous adventuress? What could Ora bring him—what gift to make the sungod greater?

She went softly and opened the door.

He was standing at his draughting board and didn't turn as she entered. She noticed his neck red and knew that his hand fastened rigidly on his pencil.

She took a light step.

"Oh, hello," said he, coming swiftly to her: "I thought it was Paul. Didn't expect you—darling kid—"

She shut her eyes as he stooped and kissed her.

"Will you wait? I'll only be a few moments."

"I'll watch if you don't mind. Is this table strong enough?"

"For a butterfly—yes."

She swung herself up and perched there with her thin long arms wound about her hunched knees.

She sat very still, watching his fluent hand and his rapt, intent face.

His eyes glanced a moment into hers warmly: "Darling thing!"

"Oh," thought she with a stab of joy, "it would be easier for me to die. Much easier than ever to let him go."

She watched fervently. He paused with a baffled: "The Devil—I had it—had it amoment ago—"

She reached for his pencil: "It's there—look."

"Yes," said he, slowly, startled as her hand traced the sketch. "How did you get that?"

"You had the outline of it—the shadow of it. An odd thing, isn't it, the way an idea already crystallized will suddenly become vague—vanish . . ."

"Well," said he, smiling happily, "Thanks for catching it. We're finished."

She pursed her lips on a cigaret, held it for him to light . . . and for a moment dreamily puffed the smoke in his face.

"Here," said he, picking up a diminutive and very delicate handkerchief. He sniffed it. "New perfume."

She laughed—blew a puff of smoke to the ceiling. "Not mine, darling. The dark lady of the mask dropped that."

He twisted the handkerchief. Quietly: "Did you see Ora leaving?"

"Yes—and heard her and was pretty mad for about five seconds."

"What did you hear?"

"Sunday at 4."

His eyes narrowed. "You heard that? What are you thinking?"

She sunk her chin deeper in her cupped palms and grinned: "That there'll be one fooled Ora Sunday at 4 promptly."

"She's not interested in me. She's just hard up and came to ask my advice about getting a job."

"Why not an employment agency?"

"She's thinking of going into architecture and wants to get a chance at draughting. That's why she came to me."

Jerry bit the end from her cigaret. He was guileless enough to fall for that! Oh, man the pursuer! Innocent enough to swallow it—line hook and tackle.

"I thought you said she had to support her children? Why doesn't she go out for a real job, then, like cooking or clerking or selling? If the poor kids are facing starvation, why doesn't she go in for medicine or grand opera? Or she might have assayed portrait-painting or litterachure!"

"Can you help her?"

"I don't know," said he stiffly. "I told her I'd look around."

"And report to her Sunday at four?"

"You're awfully facetious, aren't you?"

"Indeed not," said she, snuffing out her own cigaret and snatching his. "It's no laughing matter to see my own particular lord of creation in peril of being changed from the catch of the century to a portly papa of Swedish step-children overnight!"

"No fear. Besides," said he with a sudden chuckle. "That wouldn't solve the bread and butter of it. And the children are with her mother in New York."

"So she's foot-loose," thought Jerry darkly, "foot-loose and after any attractive man who suits her fancy!"

Mr. Jackson Makes a Cryptic Observation Anent Dicky and the Owl

ONCE more Eleanor Lincoln rose from the couch where she had rested after her swoon upon hearing the hoot of an owl. But this time Katherine made no objection to her action, and I saw that the little nurse shared my opinion that the young chatelaine of The Larches was herself again, and would suffer neither physical nor mental ill from a return to normalcy.

But our mysterious neighbor did not repeat the blunder of arrogance which she had displayed toward Katherine upon first arousing from her faint. She prefaced her rising with an appealing glance at my kinswoman, and spoke quickly, ingratiatingly, when she had gained her feet.

"You think it's all right for me to go back to the veranda, don't you?" she asked with a charm of voice and manner that atoned for her former rudeness. "I'm so ashamed of myself for spoiling the evening this way."

She turned apologetic eyes to me, and I put a reassuring hand upon her arm.

"Please do not give that another thought," I said. "You haven't spoiled the evening at all. If you wish to go into details"—I smiled at her—"we haven't wasted 10 minutes. Perhaps we ought to waste more"—I turned inquiringly to Katherine.

"No, I'm sure she's perfectly all right now," Katherine returned, and I resumed my purposely cheery chant.

"So you see you have no reason at all for compunction or embarrassment," I told her. "Suppose we go back to the veranda. I know they are anxious about you."

She put her hands to her hair with an uncertain movement which I promptly interpreted.

"You're not a bit ruffled," I said, "but if you'd like a mirror just come with me."

I preceded her into a recess of the hall, where there was a full-length mirror. With the centuries-old heritage of women, she gave herself a little shake, put back a few straying locks of her bobbed hair, touched up her lips and cheeks and turned back to me.

"Thank you!" she said. "Now I am armed for the fray."

But I knew that she was quaking beneath her brave mask as she walked by my side to the veranda. She possessed keen enough perceptions to realize that the bizarre tale she had told of her childish fright left her audience but two alternatives. They must disbelieve it or they must mark her down as a neurotic young person with insufficient poise and mentality to overcome her early terror. Either alternative would be anathema to her proud spirit, and, despite my very real annoyance at her for her open ogling of Noel Veritzen, I found room in my heart for genuine pity toward her.

Not that she appeared in any need of compassion as she came back to the veranda, perfectly poised and apparently no whit the worse for her swoon. I realized Dicky had not returned to the veranda. But it was Miss Lincoln who first voiced a query concerning him.

"Where is Mr. Graham?" she asked, then added with a palpably forced little laugh, "I do hope he isn't still chasing that owl!"

"Perhaps he's found it," Mr. George Logan Jackson said, with a little laugh. "If so, he's apt to be delayed some time."

LOCAL RESIDENTS RECOVER HEALTH

Lady and Her Aged Mother Attribute Recovery to Famous Ten Herbs.

"Ten Herbs gave me such good results that I induced mother, who is 71 years old, to use it, as she had about the same health troubles as I," was the statement of Mrs. Elizabeth Gott, 22 Roberts Street, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine. "I can honestly say that mother and I received the same satisfactory results that everybody who takes Ten Herbs tells about," continued Mrs. Gott, who has lived all her life in the same ward in Pittsburgh, and is well known.

MRS. ELIZABETH GOTT

"My appetite was poor, and I had a constant pain in my stomach. A heavy lump would form in my stomach, which made me imagine all sorts of things. I got very nervous and worried over my condition. I was constipated, and my liver was very inactive. I had no ambition or energy. While sewing I would fall asleep. My kidneys seemed to be weak, as I had to arise five or six times a night, and had severe pains across the back. My sleep was so badly broken that I would arise in the morning feeling more tired than when I went to bed, and my complexion became sallow.

"I was so much impressed with what Pittsburgh people said about Ten Herbs that I decided to try your medicine. As a result, my appetite is good, and the lump and pain have left my stomach. My liver and kidneys are active, and my bowels are regular. I do not have to arise a single time at night, and the pains are gone from my back. That drowsy, worn-out feeling has left me, and I have more strength and ambition. I sleep well at night and my nerves are quiet. I enjoy good health now, and it shows in my general appearance. Mother and I are glad of an opportunity to speak a good word for a medicine that has such splendid qualities as Ten Herbs."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

THE MARRYING GIRL

"MARRYING girls," like poets, are born, not made.

* * *

Not every girl can expect to succeed in marriage, any more than everybody can expect to succeed as a writer or a movie star.

* * *

There seems to be a special talent for marrying, which is born in some people, like a talent for painting or dancing or cooking or sewing. You can no more teach a girl "how to win a husband," than you can teach her to write like Mrs. Browning or to sing like Galli Curci.

HELEN ROWLAND

So long as one woman can collect five or six wedding rings and another woman can't even get one marriage certificate with which to brighten her bungalow walls, orange blossoms and laurels will continue to be unequally divided. And there aren't enough desirable men to go all the way around, anyway.

* * *

It is harder to tell what it is that makes a woman popular with men, than to tell what it is that makes a humorist able to draw a cartoon or a poet able to write a sonnet.

* * *

But there is one real secret, and it is this. You must LIKE animals or men before you can touch their hearts, or charm or tame them.

* * *

Most women LOVE men individually. But the woman whom MEN love, is the one who is just fond of them, collectively; who finds them interesting and entertaining in the mass, enjoys them in groups or crowds, and can no more resist being nice to any man she meets than an animal lover can resist petting any stray cat or dog he happens to meet.

* * *

That, if anything, is the secret of the "marrying girl." That is why one woman may be as good as an angel, as beautiful as a Greek goddess and as clever as sin, yet no more able to attract men than a magnet can attract silver. While another little thing with no figure, no brains and no scruples, can play the Pied Piper and have them all dancing after her.

* * *

For there MAY be an art of charming a man; but nowadays it takes GENIUS to marry one! And hypnotism to KEEP him married!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, March 22

Astrology is a system of character analysis based upon mathematics.—ELIZABETH ALDRICH.

AN interesting and eventful day, one probably notable for surprises, is the forecast made from the lunar transits as well as of the figure of Sol parallel Uranus, the planet of the unusual and unorthodox. There may be sudden changes, journeys or removals, and these should bring far-reaching advantages, as other configurations point to propitious conditions, personal and business.

Those whose birthday it is may plan for an eventful year attended by surprising and sudden changes or journeys. Advantages in finances, environment and in personal affiliations are presaged. It is propitious for new arrangements.

A child born on this day should have many excellent parts and equipment for success and happiness in life, either in a public capacity or in private endeavor.

If You Need a Tonic, Get the Best

—Robbins Studio

Bradford, Pa.—"When I was a young girl I was puny, frail, anemic, listless. After taking various medicines without improvement, the druggist finally advised my mother to give me Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and that proved to be the very best of all. It built me up in health, my nerves were better and I developed into strong womanhood. It took several bottles to do this, but it was well worth the price. My health has been all that I could have desired throughout wifehood and motherhood. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the tonic I am advising my own daughters to take at this time."—Mrs. Laura Wagner, 10 So. Center Street.

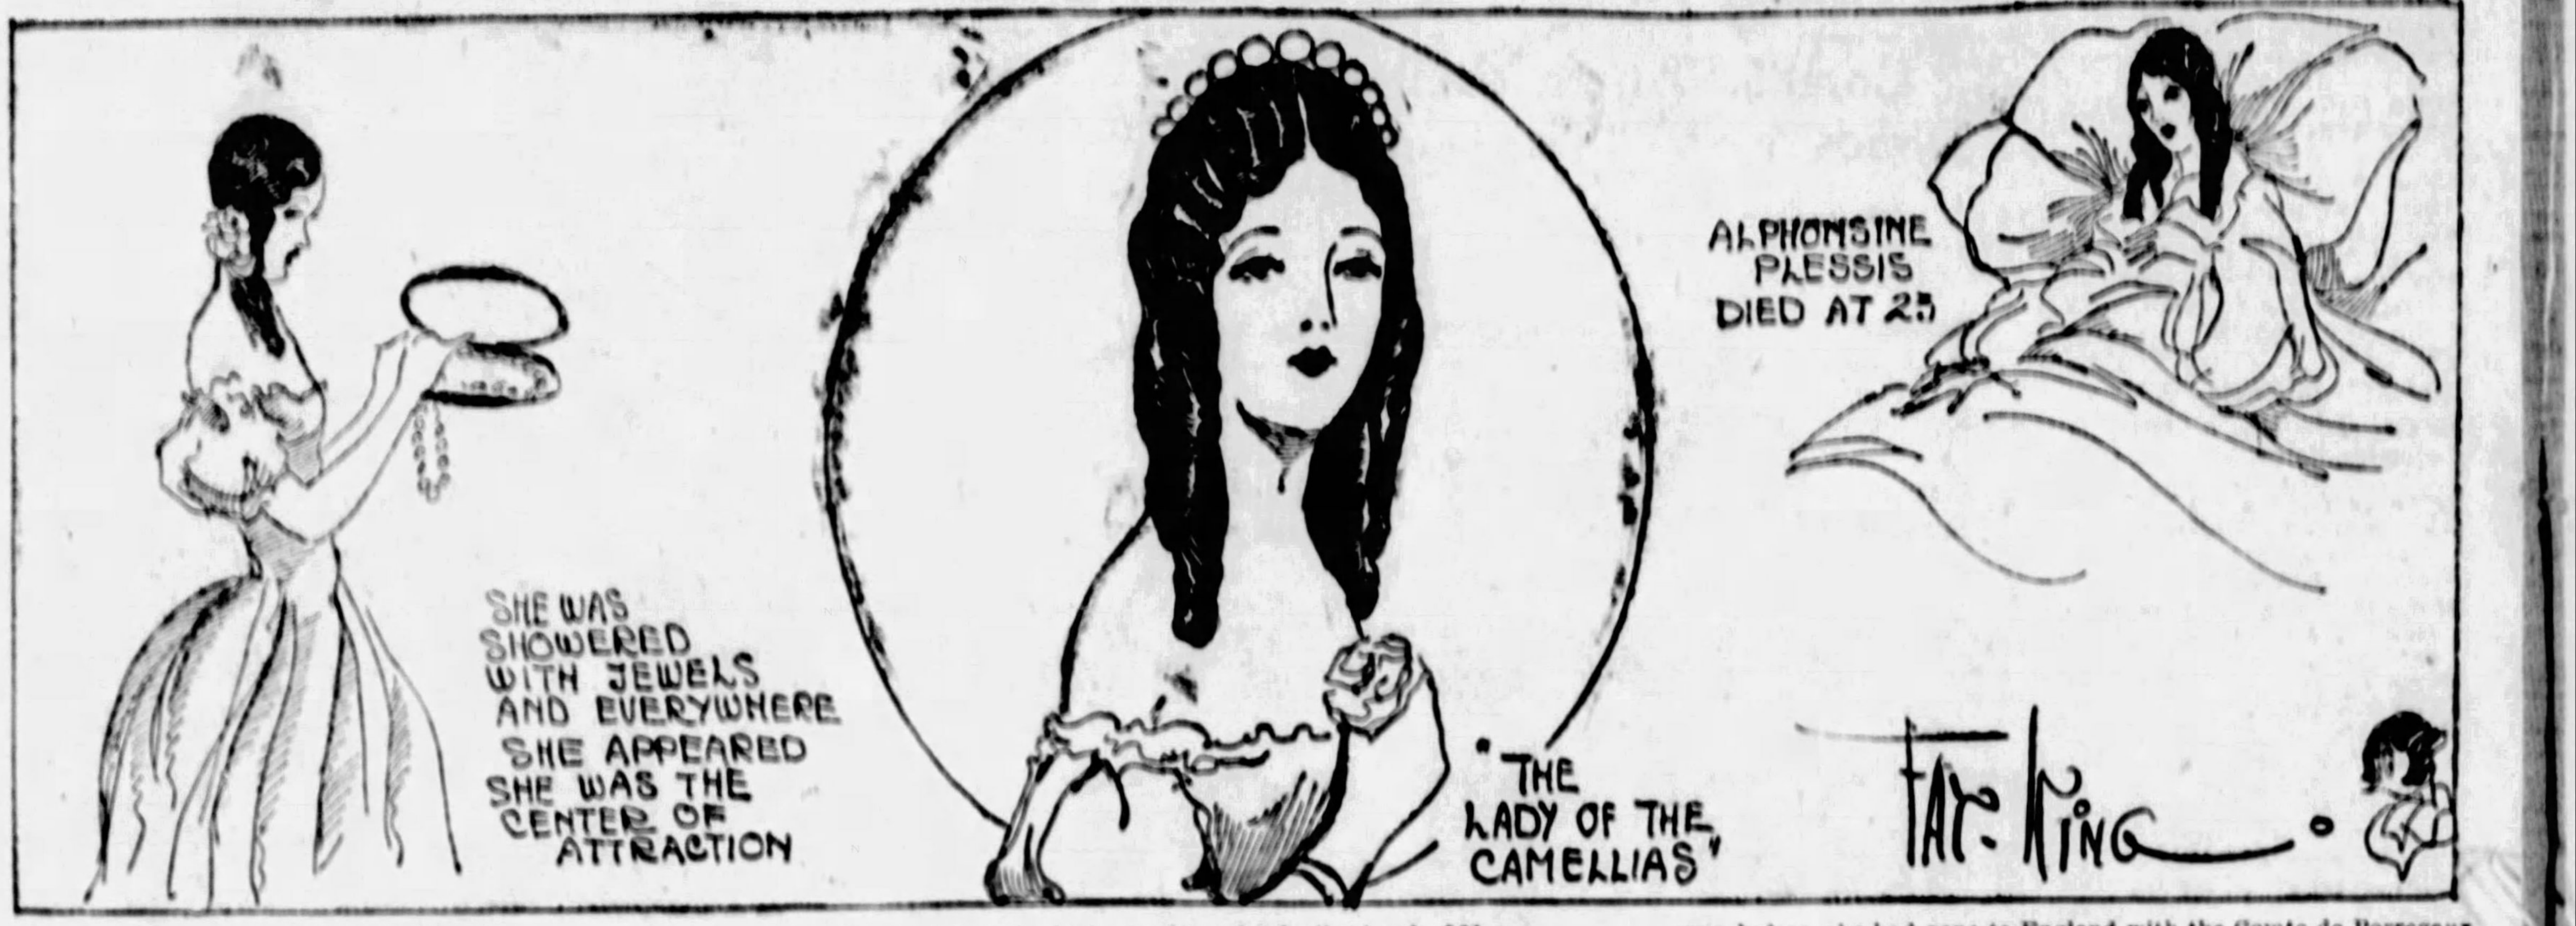
Fay King Tells Why Women Weep for Camille



SHE WAS SHOWERED WITH JEWELS AND EVERYWHERE SHE APPEARED SHE WAS THE CENTER OF ATTRACTION
"THE LADY OF THE CAMELLIAS"
ALPHONSINE PLESSIS DIED AT 23
FAY KING

By FAY KING

FOR generations women have wept over Camille!

Actresses of the stage and screen have triumphed playing this famous beauty. She has been immortalized in fiction, opera and plays. She is the Marguerite Gautier of Dumas' book, "La Dame aux Camellias." She is the Violetta of Verdi's opera, "La Traviata."

Although readers have always taken it for granted that the younger Dumas was the Armand in his story, some who have carefully investigated the history of the real Camille doubt if Dumas knew her or even wrote the story.

Her real name was Alphonsine Plessis, though she called herself Marie Duplessis. Her great beauty soon launched her into the life she led, and which also brought death at only 23!

She had countless admirers. They showered her with wealth and attention. Those who knew her and recorded their memory of her, all agreed that her beauty, charm and manners were perfect. She was a brunette.

Her eyes were black and sad, and her complexion pale as the flowers she loved more than any other.

She was a great reader. She despised coarse manners. It is said that once she attended a play with some titled admirer. When he laughed so loud that it attracted undue notice to them, she excused herself, and left the theater and admirer flat.

Although her morals were not the best in the world, her heart was. She was lavish in her charities.

The real Camille did not die calling for Armand. Less than a year before, she had gone to England with the Comte de Perregaux where they could be married!

She was in the last stages of consumption brought on by her careless life. Her husband and her friends had left her. She was in debt and alone.

If you go to Paris, in the Montmarte Cemetery, you will find a grave marked with the name Alphonsine Plessis! It is the grave of "Camille!"

Avoid Danger of Life-Long Disfigurement in Beauty Quest

WHY will women take the hazard of being disfigured for life by submitting to operations for beauty?

I have seen really pretty girls permanently scarred and disfigured by the unskillful use of hair destroyers. The same chemical agents that dissolve hair can burn and sear and sear the skin.

DR COPELAND

It is a worthy ambition to strive for beauty. But honest beauty, or at least real attractiveness, is within reach of almost everybody. Study the homeliest of faces and there will be found features which are most appealing.

A very famous English woman told me once that she has good-looking ears, a remarkable nose, perfect lips, pretty hair, "but," she sighed, "they don't match up." "The ensemble," she declared, "is a failure."

But her wits and nimble mind, her sparkling eyes and animation of manner, more than make up for physical beauty which she denies having. Let me say at once, however, that I do not share this charming ladys estimate of her face. I think she is very good-looking.

After all, health is the prime essential. As I see it, the advice of physicians should be sought, not for operations, merely, but for directions about eating and sleeping and breathing and the care of the body. The correct physical conditions which are interfering with perfect health are far more important than to be chiseled into perfection of form.

Many a nose seems prominent because the cheeks are thin and wasted. A drooping eyelid is conspicuous, because there is no flame in the cheeks and sparkle in the eye, to take attention from the defect.

You can get more good looks out of a course of lessons in horseback riding than you can get out of a surgeon's kit.

Mind you, I don't decry the surgeon. He is a daily blessing to thousands of the human race. We couldn't get on without his skill.

But there are two reasons and two only for going to the doctor. You go to him to get well if you are sick. Better still, you go to him for advice about how to keep well.

The job of getting "beautiful" is your job, not the doctor's. He will tell you that the food he recommends and the manner of life he prescribes will give you health, provided—provided what? Provided you carry out instructions.

We can tell you what you should do, but unless you have the character to apply the advice, the fees are wasted. You are the one to fill the prescription. Nobody can do it for you.

When you are considering the possible effects of an operation which is undertaken for no other reason than to add to your appearance, do not forget that you may be worse off after it is all over. I beg of you not to overlook the hazards involved. You must consider very soberly the fact that every operation is attended with danger. It should not be determined upon lightly.

If you are determined to undertake or to consider such a procedure, I beg of you to make sure the surgeon is qualified and experienced.

For the Lovelorn

A Man—Sure

DEAR MISS GALE:

I hope you will give my answer to the "Mephistophelians" a place in the column. Listen here "Mephistophelians." I've read and reread the lovelorn columns, for pleasure and somewhat with the view of learning human nature; but upon reading your insertion I speak but mildly when I say my blood boiled. For all that's noble in you girls I ask you to draw a line to a limit when you speak of "man." No such creature as you describe is a man. He is nothing but a flippant, and despicable cad. A man is above all a gentleman; he is honorable and morally sound. He stands for all that is honorable, noble, pure, good and beautiful about the fair sex and dares anyone to utter a low word against any respectable lady. A true man will never encourage the actions you speak of, but will do all in his power to discourage them. And listen girls, if you want the one life you have to live to be happy and bubbling with content, live a sensible life and stay away from the cads until a man comes along. You will find that in the end its the old fashioned girl's happy and married life that lasts till death. And don't forget that there may be the so-called old fashioned girls who are no better than the cads among men—their old fashioned outer appearance is only feigned. Yes, and allow me to ask you a question also. In spite of all these "fast girls," marriages, "how come all these divorces?" A MAN-SURE.

Since your letter is really addressed to my correspondents, I shall make no comment on it.

Blue Peggy

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a constant reader of your column and find you give wonderful advice, so I'm coming for some myself. I am in love with a fellow just a few years older than I. We got along together pretty well until he left town. I received letters from him and just a few weeks ago I had a little gathering. When answering his letter I told him everything that happened and now I haven't heard a word from him. He writes to my other friends, but he never writes to me, although I've written him two letters already. I care very much for this fellow, Miss Gale, so please tell me what I can do to win back his friendship. Is it my duty to write him another letter or just wait until he answers mine. BLUE PEGGY.

You have done all you can do, my dear. Wait until you hear from him before writing again.

Broken-Hearted

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a reader of your columns and I think your advice is wonderful, so I thought I'd ask you one question. There is a boy who calls on my brother pretty often, and suddenly I've taken a liking to him. Recently I was invited to a party and it happened that he was invited also. There was a girl among the crowd whom he seemed to like. He talked to me and acted nice towards me. Now I don't know if he likes me or not, but I like him. He is going away soon. Do you think he likes me? Or does he not care for me at all? This question has been puzzling me. BROKEN-HEARTED.

I am sorry, but I have no means of knowing whether he likes you or not. You can judge that by his actions.

THREAT MADE TO CLOSE UNION HALL AGAIN

BURGETTSTOWN, Pa., March 21.—"You can't meet here!" announced O. A. Wakefield, superintendent of Francis mine of the Greensburg-Connellsville Coal and Coke Company, and ordered a crew of workmen to board up the union hall, situated near the mine, about two miles from Burgettstown. This occurred February 20.

Since then officers and members of the union have produced a deed for the hall property, proving ownership by Local No. 596, United Mine Workers of America. J. R. Ferns, international representative of the union, demanded that the boards be removed and Wakefield complied with the demand Monday, but declares he will board up the hall again, notwithstanding the deed, union leaders or anyone else.

Wakefield says he boarded up the hall "to keep the I. W. W. out." The "I. W. W.," he explained, are represented by the Pennsylvania-Ohio Miners' Relief and the "Save the Union Committee."

"The Pennsylvania-Ohio sent a lot of food and clothing in here and the union people began fighting among themselves," Wakefield said, "so I decided to take a hand myself. I closed up the place and will do it again as soon as this I. W. W. outfit starts more trouble."

Ferns says he has his people well in hand and there is no reason for Wakefield to interfere in the situation. Thomas J. Brennan, president of the local, and James H. Jones, secrtary, also declare they are able to handle the situation and say that Wakefield has no business in the controversy. If he boards up the union hall again, the union officials declare, they will seek court action to compel him to keep his hands out of union affairs.

IF THE Pittsburgh Pirates are to share in the post-season spoils they will have to cop undisputed possession of third place, as a tie with Detroit will give the Cougars the right to go into the play-offs by virtue of their having scored the most goals during the season. This is the ruling of the National League, ridiculous as it may seem.

To avoid any tie the Pirates can capture the coveted berth by winning one of their two remaining games, provided Detroit loses to Boston Saturday night. An even break for Odie Cleghorn's skaters and a victory for the Michigan city lads would mean nothing to Pittsburgh since the goal proposition settles the tie.

Tomorrow night the Pirates wind up their road schedule by playing the Maroons at Montreal. The Bucs may not be able to muster their full strength for this important battle. Herb Drury was severely injured in Detroit Sunday night and will not likely be able to play.

CANADIENS "IN"

NEW YORK, March 21.—(AP.)—The Montreal Canadiens, pacemakers in the National Hockey League throughout the current drive which closes Saturday night, have clinched first place and the bye in the International Group.

In the only other league contest, the Toronto Maple Leafs triumphed over the Bruins, leaders in the American Division, by 6 to 2 at Boston. Carson tallied three times for the Leafs.

Bill Busch Gains Again

HOLBROOK, Ariz., March 21.—Runners in the 3,400-mile cross-country footrace have passed the 600-mile post, trotting into Holbrook behind Earle Dilks of New Castle, Pa., who won the seventeenth lap over a distance of 34.3 miles from Winslow in 5 hours and 12 minutes.

Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, England, came in second, followed in order by Richard Thomas, Oakland, Cal., Henry Swabey, Ontario, John Cronick Saskatoon, Sask; William Busch, Pittsburgh; Voight Houfstater, Manistee, Mich; Arne Souminen, Detroit; Olli Wantinen, New York, and John Salo, Passaic, N. J.

Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., who took first place in the derby on the basis of elapsed time when Arthur Newton, 44-year-old Englishman, was forced out yesterday by a sprained ankle, failed to finish among the first 14 today. He is bothered with tonsilitis and officials doubt his ability to keep up the grind.

Today's course led the runners past the edge of the famous Arizona bad lands 40 miles to Navajo, Ariz.

Indians, Navajos and Hopis, were gathering from the desert area about Navajo, where Frank Chavez, California Mission tribesman, was slated to be honored in truly primitive style. This distinction is the result of Chavez's replacing Quamawahu, Hopi brave forced out of the race in the hearts of the "first Americans." The leaders:

SHOTS and PASSES

by Julius Levin

WHEN the New York Celtics, champions of the American Professional League, oppose the former members of the Pittsburgh Morrys at Duquesne University next Saturday night, they will face a team that defeated both contenders for the western division championship of the Carr circuit.

The Pittsburgh Morrys, who have been representing the McKeesport Cyclers in professional basketball circles this winter, succeeded in defeating both the Fort Wayne Knights of Columbus and the Cleveland Rosenblums, who met recently in a play-off series to determine which of the two would engage the Celtics for the title. Fort Wayne won the honor.

While very few fans are conceding the Morrys a chance against the Celtics next Saturday night, the popular Pittsburgh stars will not be without support. The team has been playing at top speed all year and will take the floor against the Celtics in the pink of physical condition.

Farrell Sets Record In Golf Victory

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 21.—(AP.)—Flashing a dazzling brand of golf to shoot a 63 in the final 18 holes, for a new course record, Johnny Farrell, Mamaroneck, N. Y., won the $5,000 first money in the $15,000 La Gorge open golf tournament with a total of 274 for the 72 holes.

Bobby Cruickshank, New York, two strokes back of Farrell, with 276, won second place and a $2,500 slice of the big purse, while Joe Kirkwood, of Albany, Ga., took the third cut of $1,600 with a 279.

Others finishing in the first 10 were as follows: Harry Hampton, Chicago, 282, Gene Sarazen, Newport Richey, Fla., 283; Tommy Armour, Washington, national open champion, 285; Harry Cooper, Buffalo, N. Y., 286. Al Espinosa, Chicago, 288; Lloyd Gullickson, Cleveland, 288, and George Voight, Washington 288.

Bill Mehlhorn, Pittsburgh pro, failed to finish in the money. Mehlhorn had an even 300 for the 72-hole test, finishing the last 36 holes with 73-79—152.

Farrell's dazzling 63 was 8 under par for the course, and included six birdies and an eagle, with not a hole above par figures.

Cruickshank, like Farrell, was out in the first nine of the afternoon round in 30, but after that played a steady game to finish the final nine in 29, even par.

Farrell played a spectacular game throughout the afternoon, taking long chances for birdies and eagles. It was a distinct departure from his usual game, for the young pro who was one of the leading winners last year. With the tournament already won on the seventeenth, a 440 year par five hole, after a drive of 225 yards and with the choice between two safe iron shots or a wood club and a mighty whang, Farrell chose the latter and landed within 18 feet of the pin. He missed an eagle 3 by inches and took an easy four.

Sarazen, a prime favorite to win, led the field yesterday at the close of the morning round, but was off his game for the first nine in the afternoon round. After learning of Cruickshank's remarkable drive, he recovered somewhat on the last nine to come in with 35 for a 74 in the final 18.

INDOOR GOLF PLAY CARDED

The first annual inter-club indoor golf championship has been scheduled for the East Liberty indoor golf links, 6119 Broad street. It is anticipated that about 20 civic and luncheon clubs will participate in an elimination round of medal play which, starting next Monday, will take the better part of three weeks to wind up before the regular championship begins on April 16.

Each of the clubs entering the tournament, the first of the kind ever to be staged in Pittsburgh, will play an 18-hole medal round and crown its champion. The champion will be awarded 12 tickets for play on the course for his trouble. The champion of each club will play in an 18-hole qualifying round to place in flights for match play.

To the winner of the first flight, more tickets will be awarded to the individual, while a beautiful silver trophy, emblematic of the championship, will be presented his club. The winners of the lower flights likewise will receive suitable prizes.

The entry fee of $2 permits each golfer to play through until he is eliminated or crowned a winner. Entries must be certified by secretaries of the clubs and presented to Press Anderson of the East Liberty indoor links on or before April 8. Clubs can play off for their championship anytime between Monday and April 15.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much, also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Sinclair's Horses Barred

BALTIMORE, March 21.—(AP.) — The Maryland Racing Commission has announced through James F. Hayward, secretary, that it had requested owners of the four one-mile tracks in the state to bar the horses of the Rancocas Stable, owned by Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate, because of his connection with the Teapot Dome oil scandal.

Sinclair had entered three colts in the Preakness at Pimlico, including Bowele, Sublevado and Nassak, and in the $25,000 Dixie at the same track had nominated the veteran Grey Lag and the 4-year-old Sweepster. The first three named mounts have also been entered in the Kentucky Derby.

Although entries for Pimlico have closed, the three other racing association nominations are still open, where Sinclair's stables usually entered several contenders.

NEW YORK, March 21.—(AP.)—No action designed to follow the lead of the Maryland Racing Commission in barring Harry F. Sinclair's horses from its tracks, has yet been considered by the Jockey Club, which controls the turf in New York, Algernon Daingerfield, assistant secretary announced.

COVINGTON, Ky., March 21.—(AP.)—Polk Lafoon, chairman of the Kentucky Racing Commission, said that his associates at no time considered barring the horses of Harry F. Sinclair.

15 Held In Penn Riot

PHILADELPHIA, March 21.—(AP.)—Fifteen University of Pennsylvania undergraduates, including the president of the senior class, were arrested early today after celebration of Penn's defeat of Princeton for the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League championship.

A disturbance, in which 1,000 students participated, took place in the section of West Philadelphia adjacent to the campus, and it was not quelled until firemen drenched the celebrants with water from hose lines. For several hours the students battled police reserves, tied up traffic and started a bonfire. Milk bottles were hurled, and one policeman was cut by flying glass.

John McDowell, senior president, was arrested on a charge of inciting to riot and held in jail for some time before being released to await a hearing.

Members of all classes participated in the celebration, which started as soon as the students reached the campus after leaving the Palestra, where the basketball contest was played. At first they engaged in a general jollity performance, which assumed semblance of a riot when 75 policemen arrived to disperse the crowd.

Pennsylvania last night won the championship of the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League for the sixth time since the competition started. It beat Princeton, 24 to 22, in a play-off for the title.

Joey Schaaf, leading scorer of the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League and one of the heroes of Penn's victory over Princeton, today was elected captain of the Quaker five for next season.

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Donie Bush.

NO DOUBT Skipper Donie Bush is doing some tall thinking these days, trying to reach a decision as to whom, among his more experienced infielders, it would be most advisable to part with.

Of course, it is safe to surmise that neither George Gottleber nor Coburn Jones will be retained, as both must go back for further experience. But aside from that duo, and without counting the veteran, Joe Harris, as an infielder, the Pirates, since the purchase of Eddie Mulligan from San Francisco, have three extra men for the inner defense in Mulligan, Dick Bartell and Joe Cronin.

IT IS certain that the Pittsburgh club is not going to carry all three, unless Mulligan was purchased to be used in a deal for a catcher, which seems unlikely from this distance.

And if Mulligan was bought for his worth as an infielder, it naturally follows that Manager Bush intends to keep him, all of which means that either Cronin or Bartell will be dropped at an early date, perhaps before the Bucs leave California on April 1.

BUSH is in a quandary like that of Manager Moriarty of the Tigers. The Bengal boss has nine infielders on his roster and doesn't know even where to begin to cut down, inasmuch as the list is made up of such players as John Neun, Marty McManus, Jack Tavener, Chick Galloway, Jack Warner, Charley Gehringer, Frank Emmer, Nolen Richardson and Bill Sweeney.

Dundee Here for Bout

By HARRY KECK.
Sun-Telegraph Sport Editor.

MIKE DUNDEE of Rock Island, Ill., is in town for his eight-round windup battle with U. S. Carpentier of New Kensington at Motor Square Garden next Monday night. He blew in this morning, along with his manager, the colorful Dick Curley, from Chicago, and prepared at once to go through daily workouts in the Motor Square gym.

Manager Curley heard that the fistic situation locally is in the doldrums, and, being an old hand at the game, decided to come on almost a week ahead to whoop things up by letting the populace know he has a good fighter and one who figures to make matters interesting for the best of the local 135-pounders, which is what Carpentier is.

Matchmaker Johnny Ray virtually completed his program today for the show Monday night. He had Young Rudy of Charleroi and Georgie Harris of Niles, O., paired for the semi-final and Eddie Raven of the North Side and Jimmy Belmont in the second battle and plans to use Jackie Rodgers, North Side flyweight, against Young Naci in the first eight-round fuss.

The program has been completed

CHAMPIONS SEEK TO RETAIN TITLES

These three bowling stars are among the many crack rollers who will compete in the fifth annual tournament of the East Liberty Bowling Association, on the Market Square Recreation alleys, downtown, April 2 to 14. Selai, who hails from Homestead, won the all-events championship last year with a total of 1,553, and Lachendro carried off the singles prize with a count of 601. Golvash always is up among the leaders in the local tournaments. In the recent Southern duckpin tournament, he won $145 in prize money, annexing the singles and all-events, and, with his partner, J. Leister, also taking the doubles, and, in the Original Southern tournament last week, Golvash and Leister finished sixth in the doubles. Golvash also won the all-events of the K. of C. national tournament, with a score of 1,553. His all-events total in the Southern tournament was 1,779.

Double K. O. Is Fatal To One Victim

LOS ANGELES, March 21.—(AP.)—What seemed to have been a double knockout in a friendly boxing bout between two students in the University of Southern California gymnasium turned to tragedy last night when it was found that one of the boxers was dead.

The dead boxer was Michael Carnakis, 20, of Bakersfield, a sophomore. His opponent, Phillip Bromley, 19, of Los Angeles, was unconscious for an hour and 45 minutes.

The boxers, both welterweights, pounded each other for three rounds. In the fourth they were engaged in a swift exchange of punches when both tumbled on their faces. Bromley was the first to fall. Carnakis was declared the winner. Then attendants began to try to revive them. Carnakis was dead.

Examination at a receiving hospital by Police Surgeon Charles Sebastian disclosed that the dead boxer had once suffered a basil fracture of the skull. His death was caused by a cerebral hemorrhage, according to Dr. Sebastian. An investigation was ordered.

LOUCKS IS RETAINED AS GREENSBURG COACH

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 21.—Earl E. Loucks, athletic director of Greensburg High School, has been retained in that capacity for 1928-29, the local school board announced in making public its appointments for the coming year.

Loucks, whose home is in Scottdale (Pa.), came to Greensburg from East High, of Cleveland, last fall. In his first year at Greensburg his athletes have won two championships, taking honors in football in the W. P. I. A. L. and winning the Westmoreland County basketball tournament. His basketball team finished as runner-up to Connellsville in Section X, in the W. P. I. A. L. He is a W. & J. graduate.

CHILLY SAUCE BY CHILLY DOYLE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—San Francisco fans are planing a big testimonial for Eddie Mulligan, who has just been sold to the Pirates. The friends of the classy third baseman will hold a Mulligan Day next Sunday.

JIMMY O'CONNELL, a young catcher, who worked out with the Pirates in Paso Robles, has been assigned to the New Haven team of the Eastern League by Scout Joe Devine of the Pittsburgh club.

Jimmy is just a kid who made a reputation on the sandlots of San Francisco. The trial with the class A team holds quite a test, but he is anxious to tackle it.

THE Pirates are taking advantage of the opportunity for treatment from Denny Carroll, famous trainer of the Seals, who has been doing service to Coast League players for more than 20 years.

When I went to the Seals' club house I found a string of Bush's athletes awaiting a session with Denny.

CARROLL has made a study of his art and his practice among players is so heavy that he works like a beaver while the players are on the field.

Duster Mails and other members of the club tell some striking stories about Denny.

OPPOSING players made a habit of going to Carroll for treatment. He fixed the arm of an enemy pitcher last season and this hurler proceeded to win 20 games.

Carroll, it is said, was advised to confine himself to his own men, but he breaks the rule for the Pirates.

CARMEN HILL says he feels great now, thanks to the Frisco trainer, who has been giving him treatment.

It is interesting to see the players rush the veteran with their sprains and aches. He would save a major league team thousands of dollars in a season.

BELL TRADED FOR HIGH

AVON PARK, Fla., March 21.—(AP.)—Lester Bell, regular third baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals for three years, has been released to the Boston Braves in consideration for infielder Andy High and a cash consideration, President Sam Breadon announced last night.

High is expected to arrive in camp here today from the Braves' training base at St. Petersburg. Manager McKechnie announced he did not intend to use High as the regular third sacker but would give him a utility position and use Wattie Holm as the hot corner guardian. Holm played third base for a time last year.

Bell will join Rogers Hornsby, under who, in 1926, he had his greatest season, when the Cardinals won the pennant and world's series in 1926. Bell was one of the best third basemen in the game. Missing the driving influence of Hornsby, Bell has been erratic in his performance and was unpopular with St. Louis fans.

EX-CHAMPS TO BATTLE ST. LOUIS MAR. 30

By TOM BIRKS.

THE selection of the entire Heidelberg soccer club, Western Pennsylvania champions, and national amateur champions last season, to represent Western Pennsylvania in the inter-city game for the Olympic team eliminations with St. Louis, March 30, was made at a special meeting called by President Fairfield of the West Penn Football Association last night.

The 11 named players are: Courtley, Fagan, Vallai, Grandy, Jobes, Stemzel, Chapple, Donnelli, Donnelli, McCosky and Grilli. Quite a discussion was waged regarding the selection of the four substitutes accompanying the team, the following were selected: O'Donnell and Kusis of Heidelberg, Henderson of the Celtics, and Dave Matthews of the Swissvale team.

237 Enter Hearst Shoot

TWO hundred and thirty-seven educational institutions have entered this year's national competition for the William Randolph Hearst rifle trophies. The tremendous entry list makes the event the greatest of its kind ever held.

With April 15 as the "dead line," returns from the Reserve Officers' Training Corps among the schools and colleges are arriving now in large numbers at the headquarters of Colonel George Weeks. Colonel Weeks, the official referee of the contest, is at the Sixth Corp Army headquarters, Chicago.

Returns received so far indicate that the shooting is unusually accurate this year, as a result, the competition will be exceptionally close.

Among the first institutions to send in results were the University of Arizona, Louisiana State University, Knox College, Staunton Military Academy, Howe School, Walla Walla High School, Louisville Male High School and the Virginia Agricultural Institute.

In the 237 schools and colleges which have entered the competition there are 39 R. O. T. C. teams making individual entries. All shooting in the competition is done under the supervision of regular army instructors.

Much new interest has been added to the competition this year owing to the announcement that sectional prizes will be awarded as well as the grand prizes.

Results, it is said, will probably not be announced by the War Department until May 1, or later, owing to the thoroughness with which the actual targets are checked and marks submitted by each individual school are verified.

The scoring system is the same as that used by the regular army in its competitions.

REGULARS BEATEN BY 13-5 COUNT

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—A couple of big league pitchers of distinction as well as calling, will endeavor to flag down the ambitious Seals this afternoon.

Manager Bush declared this morning that Burleigh Grimes and Carmen Hill were carded for slab duty, and he doesn't mean maybe.

Donie was not feeling very good over the showing of his champions yesterday afternoon.

The Bushwhackers were made to resemble the Philly second team as they took a lambasting, the final score being 13-5. These contests don't mean a durn thing in the big-league scheme of things, but no pilot likes to see a bush-league performance on the part of vaunted champions. The Buccos surely did have the bush-league flavor in taking a second consecutive defeat at the hands of the Coast Leaguers.

Hal Rhyne and his buddies climbed all over the Pittsburghers, Erwin Brame and Jim Lindsey, two of the younger crop of pitchers, being immediate victims. There is no doubt that the loose slab work tended to upset the Pirate Regulars, but there were times when the fielding was something sad to behold.

The Seals aim to be the new champions of the Coast sector. But the Pirates cannot see why their ambitions should entitle them to make our boys look like Dick Guy's Collegians.

Bush, therefore, has admonished his players to do better this afternoon. Grimes and Hill will be out there to bear down.

Joe Dawson is the third consideration, but Donie hopes it will not be necessary to call upon the Louisville grad.

The Seals, on the other hand are quite convinced they will be no set up in today's struggle.

Manager Williams has Elmer Jacobs groomed for slab duty, and if the former Pirate shows any of the stuff he displayed in Monterey a few days ago—well, it may be just too bad.

The return to the lineup of Sprout Waner did not throw any scare into the Seals. Adam Comorosky, however, was in the dugout and his absence slowed down the defenses of the Pittsburgh entry. It was just Pooch Barnhart's luck to have a cluster of hard balls driven into his territory and Pooch could not do

KANSAS CITY, March 21.—(AP.)—The sixteenth day of pin smashing in the American Bowling Congress tournament here produced only one score high enough to gain recognition among the leaders. Jim Gordon of Buffalo, N. Y., rolled 680 to tie for fourth in the singles with George S. Jarrett of New York. Fred Freitag of Milwaukee remained in first place with 692. The all-time congress record of 749 was made by H. E. Smyers of Pittsburgh in 1924.

The Conners Recreation of Detroit shot 2,822 to lead a slow squad of 78 teams in the closing five-men event last night. This was too low a mark to place in the first 10.

Singles and doubles entries from Albany, Benton Harbor, Mich., Detroit, St. Paul and Des Plaines, Ill., open today's program. Local booster teams have the alleys most of the afternoon and evening.

HOPPE LEADS HALL

NEW YORK, March 21.—(INS.)—Willie Hoppe was leading Allen Hall, youthful St. Louis star, by a score of 200 to 142 today in their special 600-point three-cushion billiard match, after being swamped by Hoppe under a 50 to 8 score in the third block. Hall captured the fourth block by the close margin of 51 to 50.

RECORD ENTRY CERTAIN

More out-of-town teams than ever before have bowled in a single Pittsburgh tournament will roll on the Haus alleys during the two weeks' tournament of the American Duckpin Congress beginning April 9, if the flood of entries that is coming in is an indication. Naturally, most of the visitors will be from Western Pennsylvania points, but Eastern Ohio and Northern West Virginia also will send strong delegations and points farther away will be represented.

These visitors will carry back home news of the new A. D. C. classification plan of dividing the bowlers into four equal sections, according to their scores and letting each class share in the prize money, and it is safe to say that the new system is going to be used in future tournaments in other cities as well as in Pittsburgh.

Tournament Manager Hilary E. Wertz expects fully 500 teams by the time entries close Saturday midnight with the tournament committee of the American Duckpin Congress, 922 Fulton Building.

GREENSBURG SIGNS PAIR

GREENSBURG, PA., March 21.—Two more players, a pitcher and a first baseman, have been added to the roster of the Greensburg Generals in the Pennsylvania League, it was announced today. Both of the players are from Pittsburgh and include Jack Grant, first baseman, who starred in high school athletics. He is a son of a former Pittsburgh newspaperman. The other player is Pitcher John Miller, of Pittsburgh, a right-hander who is considered one of the best prospects in that section.

Long Stars In Triumph

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER,
Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

GROVE CITY, Pa., March 21.—Duquesne High School has advanced another step in quest of the national scholastic basketball championship. Last night it defeated Sharon High School, victor in the Northwestern Pennsylvania championship elimination, 26 to 19, in one of the most thrilling games seen on Bob Thorn's Grove City College floor in many a day.

As a result of its elimination of the last possible contender for the Western Pennsylvania crown, Coach Roy Henry will take his somewhat elated crew to Penn State College Friday in another effort to try for the title of champion of Pennsylvania against three teams representing the three other sections of the commonwealth—Hazleton, Lewistown and Jersey Shore.

If they succeed in outclassing the field at State, even as they did in the W. P. I. A. L. championship at the Pitt Stadium, and in the Western Pennsylvania tournament here last night, the Duquesne representatives will take their banner for the test to the University of Chicago in hope of attaining the national title.

It was the tall and lanky Long who starred in last night's encounter. Kowallis hardly figured in it, for Coach Dickerson's Sharon High stars had him sewed up so tightly that he thought he was an old-fashioned quilt. Capt. Conlon of Sharon played a superb part, though his team lost, and it is not hard to call him a co-star in the victory of the Dukes.

In the W. P. I. A. L. series Long must have had eye trouble for last night was the first time he showed shooting form. After a first half of messing around, Long started shooting and before he was done he had aggregated four two-pointers and two out of three fouls.

While Conlon did not make the most points for his team, Flaherty scoring three field goals, it was Conlon who worked the hardest to put his team in the lead.

Duquesne was held without a field goal in the first quarter, the score being 4 to 3, but in the second period it was another matter entirely. While Sharon had tallied one goal in the first frame, the Dukes of "O'Henry" scored five to three in the second to lead 14 to 11 at half time.

The W. P. I. A. L. champion increased this margin to 19-15 at the three-quarter mark and outpointed Sharon eight points to three in the last period. Kocheran displayed splendid form from the foul line, with four out of five fouls, but was miserable in his field goal attempts.

Unquestionably the best team won, and the more than 500 rooters from Duquesne that traveled here in their special train to crowd the Grove City gym to overflowing went home confident that their team will reach even greater heights. The gallery space is so small in the gym that hundreds of persons were turned away, disappointed. The lineup:

Duquesne—26.		Sharon—19.
Kowallis	F.	Sievers
Kocheran	F.	Flaherty
Long	C.	Murphy
Rice	G.	Poleniour
Creszynski	G.	Conlon

Substitutions — Blaner for Murphy, Laycock for Poleniour, Deems for Sievers, Poleniour for Laycock. Field goals—Long 4, Kowallis 2, Kocheran 1, Creszynski 2, Flaherty 4, Sievers 1, Conlon 1. Foul goals—Kowallis, 1 out of 1; Kocheran, 3 out of 4; Long, 2 out of 3; Flaherty 0 out of 2; Murphy, 0 out of 5; Conlon, 1 out of 2; Blaner, 2 out of 2. Referee—Brickley. Umpire—Beggs Snyder.

LEAVE FOR STATE TOMORROW

The success of Duquesne has aroused the citizens of Duquesne to a high pitch of enthusiasm, and so many of them expressed a desire to accompany the quintet to State College for the final rounds of the state tournament that arrangements have been made for a special train to carry the passers and their rooters to the scene.

The special will leave over the Pennsylvania Railroad tomorrow morning at 8:40 o'clock and will carry the party to Bellefonte. Headquarters will be established there, as from Bellefonte to State College, where the games are to be played, is only a bus ride.

HAZLETON TOPS SCRANTON

HAZLETON, Pa., March 21.—(INS.)—Hazleton High's fighting Blue and White basketball team will represent the anthracite regions at State College for the championship of the state this week-end. The team proved its mettle last night by downing the Scranton Central High team, champion of District No. 2, in a speedy game, 25 to 21.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., March 21.—(AP.)—Lewistown High School smothered Meyersdale High, 49 to 21, here last night and won the right to represent districts 5 and 6 of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Basketball Association in the state tournament at State College this week.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., March 21.—Jersey Shore High School earned the right to represent Districts Nos. 3 and 4 in the P. I. A. A. by defeating Williamsport last night, 23-22.

Pittsburgh Pin Stars Bowl Good Marks

KANSAS CITY, March 21.—Pittsburgh bowlers failed to land a berth among the high 10 leaders of the American Bowling Congress tourney here yesterday, though several marks were posted by the visitors which will qualify in the prize division.

H. Bickert pounded out a 636 total in the singles on scores of 205, 206 and 225, and H. Schmidt collected a 590 mark.

Sol Kuchler gave Eddie Votel a "ride" of 111 pins in the doubles division, counting 664, while the former A. B. C. singles champ was pulling up with 550. The Pittsburgh pair chalked up counts of 375, 428 and 391 for a total of 1,194.

Joe Lehner and Lou Carroll slapped the pins for marks of 393, 435 and 351 for another prize winning total. The scores:

much with said drives. In the first frame, Barney muffed a liner with two on bases. The inning producing four runs.

Catcher Johnny Gooch shook off his lumbago and put the Pirates in the game in the seventh.

Johnny cleaned off the populated sacks with a double, the wallop reducing the gap separating the clubs to one run.

In the home half Lindsey lost all control of the situation and the Seals tallied seven times.

Dick Moudy, the Sailor boy, and Buckshot May made the Pirates behave in nine rounds of classy pitching.

Moudy allowed only one tally in five innings and May was almost as effective. Loose play by his supporting cast set the stage for Gooch's cleanup double. On the merit of Buckshot's pitching the Pirates shoud have been retired runless in the round.

Singularly enough the loose-scoring game was completed without a single home run.

Manager Ernest Balsarini of Heidelberg will be in charge of the team and the entire party under the guidance of President Fairfield.

The gathering was the largest held in the district for many years, players, managers, club representatives, referees and well-known fans being on hand when the president called the meeting to order.

The prexy of the local association called the meeting following the receipt of a telegram from the Mou. City soccer authorities offering better terms for Western Pennsylvania to send its Olympic team selection to the Missouri city to meet the all-star team selected from the municipal league.

FINAL ON APRIL 8

NEW YORK, March 21.—(AP.)—The grand final of the national soccer championship will be played at the Polo Grounds, April 8, the United States Football Association officials announced today after a meeting here. SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

The average fan would jump at the conclusion that Sweeney, Richardson or Emmer would be the first to go, but these have been showing up so well that Moriarty is kept guessing.

EDDIE MULLIGAN, the new Pirate, is no spring chicken and is not lacking in major league experience. He was in the big show 13 years ago.

He was recommended by a Pittsburgh man to Joe Tinker when the latter was managing the Chicago Federal League club in 1915, but Joe waited until he became manager of the Chicago Nationals in 1916 and then drafted Mulligan from the Davenport club, using him for the first time on September 22.

E. S. Barnard.

Eddie was with the Cubs in 1916, also, but after that season was sent back to the minors.

The Washington club, on a tip from the same Pittsburgher who had first recommended Mulligan, picked up the player after the 1920 season, but instead of keeping him, used him in a deal with the Chicago Americans.

Eddie played for the White Sox in 1921 and 1922 and then was sent to San Francisco in the deal for Willie Kamm.

LAST year, for the Seals, Mulligan batted .263 for 182 games, making 188 hits and scoring 112 runs. He made three homers, four triples, 30 doubles, stole eight bases and knocked in 52 runs. His fielding average at third base was .954.

The fact that he was not satisfied with his job or conditions is said to have been the cause of Mulligan's failure to make better marks.

He is normally a fine base runner, and apart from his playing qualities he is a pepper-box and a two-fisted fighter of the kind that every ball club is always glad to get.

FREQUENTLY at a baseball game you have noticed the batter step out of his box because the pitcher was holding the ball too long, in his opinion, because he wanted to kick against a decision made by the umpire on the preceding pitch, or for some other reason. And always, play was stopped and the pitcher walked off the mound.

John A. Heydler.

The general impression among players and spectators alike, and even among the umpires, as well, seemed to be that the batter had a perfect right to step out of the box and that play must be suspended until he was ready to take his stance again. If the pitcher hurled a ball while the sticker was outside the lines the umpire generally refused to call it either a ball or strike.

But it was all wrong, all the time. The batter under the rules has no right to step out of the batter's box when it is not necessary for him to do so.

THE practice is going to be stopped at last and other reforms are to be introduced at the same time, in the American League, at least. President E. S. Barnard has issued some new orders on the subject, and President John A. Heydler of the National probably will be heard from along the same lines.

Here are Barnard's new regulations:

If a batter step out of his box without a legitimate reason, a strike shall be called on him.

If a pitcher fails to deliver the ball in 20 seconds after stepping on the mound, not including throws to catch baserunners, a ball shall be called on him (an old rule but never enforced in recent years).

Only one batter besides the one at the plate shall be allowed to leave the bench.

A manager put out of the field shall not be permitted to sit back of his team's dugout.

The gloss will be taken off the new baseballs by a special process at the factory which makes the balls for both big leagues, and the pitchers shall not be allowed to toss the ball around the infield for the purpose of discoloring it.

Getting signals from the catcher will be included in the 20 seconds allowed for delivery.

Long windups intended to delay the game shall be banned.

"TWO hours of baseball are all the ordinary fan cares for," President Barnard has told his umpires. "The spectator wants to see a good game and to get home to a warm supper. This isn't a twilight league. If the players can't show a little snap on their own initiative, we will see to it that they do."

THE growth of horse-racing at some tracks is shown by the remarkable increase in the value of the Coffroth handicap, which was run Sunday at Tia Juana.

Jimmy Coffroth.

This was only the eighth renewal of the stake, but since it was first put on in 1917 the value of the race to the winner has been multiplied almost 25 times.

In the first running of the race 11 years ago, the winner, Sasin, earned only $4,000. Last Sunday the winner, Crystal Pennant, earned $92,700.

The race, which is at a mile and a quarter, was not run from 1918 to 1920, inclusive. The winners follow:

Year. Winner.	Winner	Time.
1917—Sasin	$ 4,000	2:22
1921—Be Frank	14,775	2:05 3-5
1922—Mulciper	15,000	2:05 3-5
1923—Rebuke	29,475	2:06 1-5
1924—Runstar	43,650	2:05 2-5
1925—Atherstone	54,425	2:07 2-5
1926—Carlaris	70,700	2:02 3-5
1927—Sir Harry	85,500	2:03 2-5

Is Prosperity Near End? Or Is Still More Coming?

By B. C. FORBES

IS PROSPERITY nearing its end? Or can still greater prosperity be cultivated by the exercise of common sense?

These are timely, important questions.

"AMERICAN PROSPERITY: ITS CAUSES AND CONSEQUENCES," a full-sized volume, has just been written by Paul Mazur, partner in the influential banking firm of Lehman Brothers. Two years ago Mr. Mazur made a survey of retail practices and facilities for the Retail Dry Goods Association, and his new book is the fruits of a comprehensive economic survey.

Impressed by its contents, I asked Mr. Mazur to summarize his chief conclusions, especially his judgment as to whether prosperity will increase or decrease.

HIS pronouncements will interest you.

"For seven years American industry has been active and American consumers have been prosperous. Now the newspapers are reporting widespread unemployment; the stock market seems to give evidence of uncertainty; business is somewhat spotty, and over all hang the clouds of doubt that come with each presidential election year.

"For several years European and American observers have been busily engaged in examining American prosperity and its causes. Most of the reported answers have pointed to three chief reasons: High production per worker, high wages and cheap money. It is doubtful if these form the true explanation for American prosperity.

"PRODUCTION by itself can not last unless it creates large inventories; and large inventories are dangerous. Sales are the basis for continued production and reasonably-sized inventories.

"High wages are a result, not a cause, since wages depend upon production, and production depends upon sales. Wages create production only when they are converted into purchases.

"Cheap money helps industry only because it does not hinder it. It is the existence of sales volume and not the ability to borrow money for 4 per cent that keeps factories and stores busy.

"SALES are the basis of American prosperity. A few of the many reasons for large sales volume can be briefly mentioned.

"First—The American consumer has the highest standard of living in the world. Education, moving pictures and especial advertising have developed the desires of the American consumer and raised his standards of living. Unlike Europeans, almost every American wants an automobile so very much that he has obtained one. A huge industry has resulted.

"Second — New styles have been created by American industry and demanded by American consumers. The factor of style has spread until it engulfs clothes, automobiles, radios, furniture, refrigerators and thousands of other things. This has created millions and millions of sales.

"Third—The ability of consumers to purchase has been increased by installment buying. Since the war over five billion dollars of annual sales volume has been thus added, and this has been an important element in our prosperity.

"BUT there are some elements of great danger in the present situation.

"The needs of the production machinery of the country are being threatened by the needs of the sales departments. High cost distribution exists because mass production requires more and more sales volume. Sales methods have been effective, and the results have maintained industry on a prosperous basis. To advertising and effective selling belongs the praise not the sneers of economists and students.

"BUT we have reached a point where sales and production methods must adjust their differences or the country will dwell in the questionable glory of profitless prosperity. As sales volume is obtained in greater and greater amounts, sales methods become more and more expensive. The savings of efficient standardized production may be eaten up by the cost of selling. The standardization that is so helpful to scientific manufacturing must be modified by the ever-changing styles demanded by a selling organization that is seeking to stimulate business by all known and unknown methods.

"IS PROSPERITY nearing its end? I do not think so.

"The answer is in the hands of American business men, and there are fresh indications daily that business is alive to the situation and is adjusting itself to offset present dangers within. In the light of recent business history, particularly the part advertising has played in it, there would seem to be no limit to consumption possibilities providing industry produces what is wanted.

"Industry has seen the light and is adjusting itself to insure and satisfy ever-changing but never-ending demand. This unquestionably means continued prosperity."

SUCH assurances are comforting at this time.

RADIO, MOTORS LEAD STOCK ONRUSH

NEW YORK, March 21.—(AP.)—Speculation for the advance continued at a terrific pace on the New York Stock Exchange today, with the oils and coppers joining the upward movement for the first time. Radio and General Motors, touching new high records at 162¼ and 175⅝, respectively, were again the leaders of the advance, although larger individual gains were recorded by a number of specialties, half a dozen of which soared 8 to 17¼ points. Nearly 2,500,000 shares changed hands in the first three hours of trading, with the ticker at least 15 minutes behind the actual market.

The day's news was mixed in character. Lowering of the call money renewal rate to 4¼ per cent had a tendency to quiet speculative fears of an early increase in money rates, although the recent advance in the sterling rate brings it to a level where gold exports to England may again be profitable. Weekly steel trade reviews reported that the industry was holding its recent gains and better trade conditions were reported from the copper and oil industries. Some disappointment was apparent as a result of the further falling off in freight car traffic in the week ended March 10.

Victor Talking Machine convertible preferred added 17¼ points to its 13½-point gain of yesterday, while the common stock opened nearly 10 points higher at 86. Rossia Insurance jumped 9¾ points, Collins & Aikman 8, American Republics and Greene Cananea Copper 7 each, and Houston Oil, Atlantic Refining, International Match preferred, Mackay Companies, Hershey Chocolate preferred and Otis Elevator climbed 4 to 6 points.

U. S. Steel common, which opened at 144¾ yesterday on the announcement of the sale of the Dupont holdings, rallied today to 148¾. Radio, after selling down 6¼ points from its early high, made up nearly all of the loss by early afternoon. General Motors was heavily bought around the top price and Hupp, Graham-Paige and Kelsey-Hayes Wheel followed it into new high ground.

The closing was strong. Railroads, which were slow in getting started, finally spurted 2 to 3 points in the last hour of trading, when the advance reached its greatest intensity in some of the specialties. General Motors crossed 177. Collins and Aikman improved 11 points. Radio fell back again 5 points or so from its best figure, and U. S. Rubber issues also weakened 2 to 3 points. Total sales approximated 3,600,000 shares.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, March 21.—The cotton market opened barely steady today at a decline of 5 to 11 points, active months soon showing net losses of 11 to 14 points under realizing or liquidation by recent buyers influenced by rather indifferent Liverpool cables and a favorable view of the weather map.

Indications of delayed farm work in the weekly report of the weather bureau, however, brought in some buying at the decline, also a moderate demand from houses with Liverpool and Continental trade connections, which absorbed the early offerings and steadied the market toward the end of the first hour.

Private cables said hedge selling had been absorbed by trade calling and local buying in Liverpool with freer buying of cotton cloths for India account.

Offerings were comparatively light after the early selling had run its course, and the market became firmer, prices making new high ground for the present movement on covering, some further trade buying and a renewed demand from commission houses. May sold up to 19.35c and October to 19.09c, making net advances of 8 to 11 points, but prices were a few points off from the best at mid-day under realizing.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 21.—The raw sugar market was quiet early today, but the undertone was a little easier and there were offerings at last paid prices of 4.58c for spot, with buyers inclined to hold off. No sales were reported.

The raw sugar futures market opened generally 1 to 2 points higher on covering and some buying of July by houses with producing connections, but met increased realizing and hedge selling and immediately reacted, with prices at mid-day 1 to 3 points net lower.

Continued inactivity in the spot market and disappointing London cables seemed responsible for the setback and reports that second-hand granulated was being offered at prices under first-hands discouraged fresh commitments.

There was no change in refiners' list quotations from 5.80c to 5.85c for fine granulated, but it was reported that second-hand sugars were available at 5.75c. The demand, however, continued light.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, March 21.—The bond market was active and the undertone firm today.

Railroad bonds and some of the New York tractions were in good demand. Minneapolis and St. Louis refunding 4s moved up more than 4 points to a new high at 20⅛, while Grand Trunk Railway of Canada 7s, St. Louis and San Francisco Adjustment 6s and Erie general 4s were near their peaks. Broadway-Seventh Avenue convertible 5s reached a new high at 73 and Third Avenue adjustment 5s a new high at 62. New York Railways 6s touched their peak at 20⅛.

Announcement of the merger of the Mackay companies with International Telephone and Telegraph created a demand for those issues. Commercial Cable 4s moved up a full point to a new high at 87 and International T. & T. debenture 4½s reached a new high at 97¼.

The foreign group was firm, with French and German issues leading the way.

United States government bonds were steady and quiet.

The New York City $50,000,000 issue, offered about two weeks ago, was reported sold.

NEW YORK, March 21.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, (00 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

GLASS ISSUES IN DEMAND

Prices displayed a slightly upward tendency on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange during the early dealings today. Advances were fractional for the most part, but such gains as were recorded were easily maintained.

Carnegie Metals showed a little burst of strength in the initial dealings, but demand petered out at the end of the first hour, with the stock selling at a large fraction above yesterday's price.

Continued strength in the main industrial list in New York had a favorable influence on the miscellaneous manufacturing issues here. Westinghouse Airbrake was higher, but not much of the stock was handled here. Standard Sanitary held around 35, the level at which it has been selling for the past few weeks. National Fireproofing was unchanged, as was United Engineering and Foundry. The Penn-Federal Corporation stocks appeared on the board in small lots, both unchanged.

Glass stocks came into the market strong during the afternoon with Pittsburgh Plate moving up sharply on small-lot trades and others selling from fractions to a point or so above previous prices.

Dixie Gas preferred, selling ex-dividend, opened lower, but developed noticeable strength in subsequent trading, the demand carrying the issue to a price equal to the best on the movement.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Gulf Oil Earned $3.10.

The Gulf Oil Corporation of Pennsylvania reports for the year 1927 net profits of $15,707,627, after amortization, depreciation, depletion, interest and taxes, equal to approximately $3.10 a share on the capital stock, as compared with $35,095,077 or $7.95 a share in 1926. The official statement to stockholders says in part: "Taking into consideration the present low prices caused by the overproduction of crude oil, the outlook for better earnings for 1928 is favorable. The inventory prices of crude and refined oils stand at a much lower level than last year, the reduction having been absorbed in last year's operations. During 1927 Gulf Oil made additional investments in properties, plant and equipment of $47,000,000. In June the Gulf Production Company, our producing subsidiary in Texas, concluded a contract with the Texas Gulf Sulphur Company for the operation and extraction of sulphur from its properties at Boling Dome, Texas. This arrangement assures your company a 10 per cent participation in the net results from these operations, without risk or the requirement of further investment. Since the conclusion of the contract our company has acquired a 10 per cent interest in a number of additional properties which the Sulphur company has acquired on Boling Dome." H. L. Stone was elected to the board of directors, filling the vacancy caused by the death of Judge James H. Reed.

Sees Public on Buying Side.

H. S. Edwards & Co.'s market letter says in part: "The market continues to be characterized by further drives against the short interests, but in some respects, the past week has assumed more of the characteristics of a more genuine forward movement, with the public again enthusiastic on the buying side, and investment stocks showing some participation in the advance. The fireworks, however, continue to be furnished by Radio, General Motor, General Electric, American Linseed, American International, Hudson, Packard and a few other stocks, inwhich short losses have run into fabulous amounts."

New York Is World Stock Market.

Leading Wall Street commission houses report that speculation in stocks on the New York Stock Exchange has reached world-wide proportions. The wireless, cable and even the transatlantic telephone have been used as mediums for transmitting orders, while the air mail has been used extensively to make quick deliveries of securities from the Pacific Coast and mid-western cities to New York. In the case of a few stocks, particularly on the New York Curb Market, where transfer offices are maintained in Canada, special messengers have been sent to Montreal and Toronto to have the securities transferred from one owner to another. Last week one house received a telephone call from Berlin to buy 3,000 shares of General Electric and the line was held open a couple of minutes until a confirmation of the sale could be given to the German customer.

Rail Shares Quiet.

Railroads were quiet, but received support that held them near the highs reached in recent sessions. There has been some shifting from the high-priced industrials to rails recently by those who look for the transportation stocks to lead the market after another month passes. It is felt that Congress will pass new railroad legislation that will expedite consolidations at this session.

Electric Stocks Popular.

Radio's move into new high ground was followed by substantial gains in Westinghouse and General Electric. "Almost anything which has electricity, or light or power in its title, or in its control, continues to work higher," said a partner in a leading stock exchange house, "and I believe these stocks have not finished their run. It is said that kilowatt reports may one day be as important in Wall Street prosperity measurements as steel tonnage, crude oil prices and motor production figures."

Chicago Pneumatic Tool.

Chicago Pneumatic Tool went higher on the reports of a pending splitup of the stock. However, with Charles M. Schwab in Europe, nothing definite is obtainable on this point. Traders favoring the up side point out that the company earned 10 per cent of the current selling price the past two years and consider that it is entitled to sell at the present figures. Incidentally, the bears are very cautious about selling Tool, as they have been wedged in the stock on several occasions during the Coolidge market.

STEEL TRADE HOLDS OWN

NEW YORK, March 21.—The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade says:

Steel production in contrast with an uneven and not entirely reassuring general business situation is holding its own and in some districts is making further gains. Steel ingot output for the first quarter now promises to exceed that of the same period of 1927, possibly by several hundred thousand tons. There are no signs of any distinct let-up in production in April. The way business is coming in mill operations are likely to continue at substantially the pace of March instead of declining, as in April last year.

Steel Corporation plants continue to operate at 90 per cent of capacity. Bethlehem operations early in the month were at 75 per cent and for the month up to this time averaged 81 per cent. Among important producing districts Chicago is still running at 95 per cent. While the Greater Pittsburgh area, including the Youngstown district, is showing a gain over the 80 per cent rate that prevailed last month.

For the sixth consecutive week The Iron Age composite prices remain at the same levels, that for pig iron at $17.75 a ton, while that for finished steel is at 2.364c a pound.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, March 21.—Wheat values scored a decided fresh advance early today with March delivery showing the most strength. Unfavorable crop reports from numerous sections of domestic winter wheat territory were current. Opening ⅛c to ⅝c higher, wheat afterward showed additional gains. Corn, oats and provisions also developed firmness, corn starting ⅝c off to ⅛c up, and subsequently rising all around.

With nearby deliveries of wheat today leading at times in price upturns many traders were watchful for renewal of indications of European demand. Meanwhile, dispatches were at hand saying that across Indiana and Ohio much of the winter crop is badly heaved and looks dead. Other reports said that from Kansas City to Amarillo, Tex., wheat is good around Wichita and poor the remainder of the distance, as well as poor to fair from Amarillo north to Liberal, Kan.

Prospects of corn export business lifted March delivery of corn to above $1 a bushel today, a new high point on the present movement. Profit taking tended to check the advance, but the undertone was firm. Friends of higher prices contended that according to the way offerings disappeared the market was showing wonderful power of absorption.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, March 21.—(AP.)—The curb market was irregular today. Buying was in considerable volume, but recurring profit-taking sales caused repeated recessions which cost many issues most or all of their rather wide gains. Although at noon a number of industrials had reached new high ground, recent leaders in the advance had been hammered down. Utilities, oils and pipe lines were stronger.

Motor shares led the advance of the industrials. Ford of Canada touched its high at 605, but lost 5 points, while Auburn Auto, Checker Cab, Durant and Marmon made small gains. Canadian Marconi again was in demand, but its gain was small. Casein advanced almost 10 points. The artificial silk issues made gains as high as 3 points, Tubize touching its previous high, and Courtaulds reaching a new high at 43¾.

A feature was the strength of insurance shares, both Home Fire and Marine and Insurance Company of North America at new high levels. Weak spots included Bohn Aluminum, Horn & Hardart and New Jersey Zinc.

Several utilities moved to new high ground, among them Central States Electric, which gained 11 points; Galveston-Houston Electric and Power Securities preferred.

Cities Service and Standard Oil of Kansas led the oils upward, both reaching new highs.

PLEDGE TO THE PUBLIC ON USED CAR SALES

1. Every used car is conspicuously marked with its price in plain figures, and that price, just as the price of our new cars, is rigidly maintained.
2. All Studebaker automobiles which are sold as CERTIFIED CARS have been properly reconditioned, and carry a 30-day guarantee for replacement of defective parts and free service on adjustments.
3. Every purchaser of a used car may drive it for five days, and then, if not satisfied for any reason, turn it back and apply the money paid as a credit on the purchase of any other car in stock—new or used. (It is assumed that the car has not been damaged in the meantime.)

To the Public: We pledge adherence to the above policy in selling used cars.

Said property being bounded and described as follows, to-wit:

All that certain lot or piece of ground situate in the Fifth (5th) Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, County of Allegheny and State of Pennsylvania, being lot Number Twenty-seven (27) in the Charles A. That the said John F. Burns acquired title from the City of Pittsburgh, a Municipal Corporation, by its deed dated February 8, 1928, which deed was recorded in the Recorder's Office of Allegheny county on March 6, 1928.

That the City of Pittsburgh purchased the said property under a tax sale, the title being transferred through the deed of Peter Bradley, by William C. McKinley, sheriff, which deed is dated January 22, 1901, and is recorded in the Prothonotary's Office of Allegheny county, in Sheriff's Deed Book, vol. 15, page 268, Common Pleas No. 1.

That the said sale as above set forth was on a judgment against the said Peter Bradley for delinquent taxes for the year 1896, and was sold on a writ of Levari Facias at 156 December Term, 1897, D. T. D.

That the petitioner, by reason of the above conveyances, is now in possession of said real estate, and that the names of the former owners, reputed owners, persons in possession, or any other persons who have or claim to have a right to own, interest or claim against said land, so far as the petitioner can be informed is the said Peter Bradley.

That on diligent inquiry, no person has been found who has or claims to have any right, title or interest in or against the said land, unless it be those persons above named.

Wherefore the court made the following order:

"ORDER OF THE COURT."

"And now, to-wit, this 16th day of March, 1928, the foregoing petition having been presented in open court, rule is granted on the persons named in said petition, namely, Peter Bradley, and generally upon all other persons not named in said petition, who have or claim to have any right, title or interest in or claim against said land, to appear within sixty (60) days from the service of this rule and show cause why the title of the petitioner to said land should not be adjudicated and decreed valid and indefeasible as against all rights and claims whatsoever.

BUGS BAER Says

THE best idea we have heard through the mess of static is the proposition to elect Presidents by mail.

In seeking to separate the chaff from the wheat we generally wind up with a mittful of sawdust.

But this idea is sure to be a good one. Unless it works.

We don't want a mail-order President who can be ordered by numbers out of a catalogue.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

We hang to our old customs like a movie organist clings to that last, sour note. Still, the mail elections would save millions of dollars which could be added to the budget in more expensive ways.

The cost of sending a delegate to a political convention is almost as staggering as the delegate.

We pay his carfare, his hotel bill and his meals in addition to his Pullman sleeper and tips. And like the wide-awake salesman in "Potash and Perlmutter," most of the money is for sleepers.

After the delegate gets to the convention, he pins a badge on his hood and rushes up and down the aisle like the head usher in a forest fire. He yodels his muzzle off in an attempt to outyell a brother delegate who represents the silent majority of citizens who mistake noise for powder and gear squeaks for transmission. But he has nothing to fear, for he knows that his badge is good for board and lodging at any sanitarium in the country.

After the fifty-seventh vote on the tenth day of the convention he loses his voice and dislocates his neck trying to put over the deciding nod which will snap the deadlock.

This means any delegate of any party for the two conventions of 1924 will rumble down in history as the champion twin bedlams of politics.

A vote by mail would erase this thumb print from the records. Just drop your vote in the mail chute and forget to put on the stamp.

In case you are a staunch party man and think that your candidate is a goat song, you can salve your conscience by giving him a wholehearted, sincere, anonymous indorsement over the rural free delivery route.

It will go to the dead letter garage. But you have done your duty and can look any letter carrier in the eye through a keyhole.

And think of the excitement on November 4, when an entire nation is cheering sleeplessly in a catch-as-catch-can election. Both candidates are neck and necking. The California vote arrives in a peach basket, the Maine caucus is being unstuffed from a rubber boot, and the Rhode Island majority is being sorted in a pill box.

It is a tie. Only one outlying county can gumble the gordian fishline. A light flashes on a high tower, a cheer scrambles the air, and we know that the deciding postcards have arrived from Paris.

Governor Fisher Still Spurns Badge of Leader

After raising public hope that he finally was going to do something toward settling the coal strike, Gov. Fisher appears to have subsided to the undisturbed calm that has marked his official attitude in this great controversy. Following is the concluding paragraph of a statement from the executive office in Harrisburg:

"The Governor declined to comment in any way upon the senatorial investigation or his speeches at Easton and Scranton beyond saying his desire to co-operate and to furnish any information desired still held good."

The Governor is willing to "co-operate." In other words, he is willing to fall in line if others lead. Initiative in a great and grave crisis in the affairs of the state he "governs" evidently is regarded by him as something foreign to his official duties. The implication of the paragraph quoted is that the Governor merely was suggesting when he spoke about a conference of all parties at interest in the coal strike with a view to bringing about the cessation of industrial strife, suffering and misery in the coal camps.

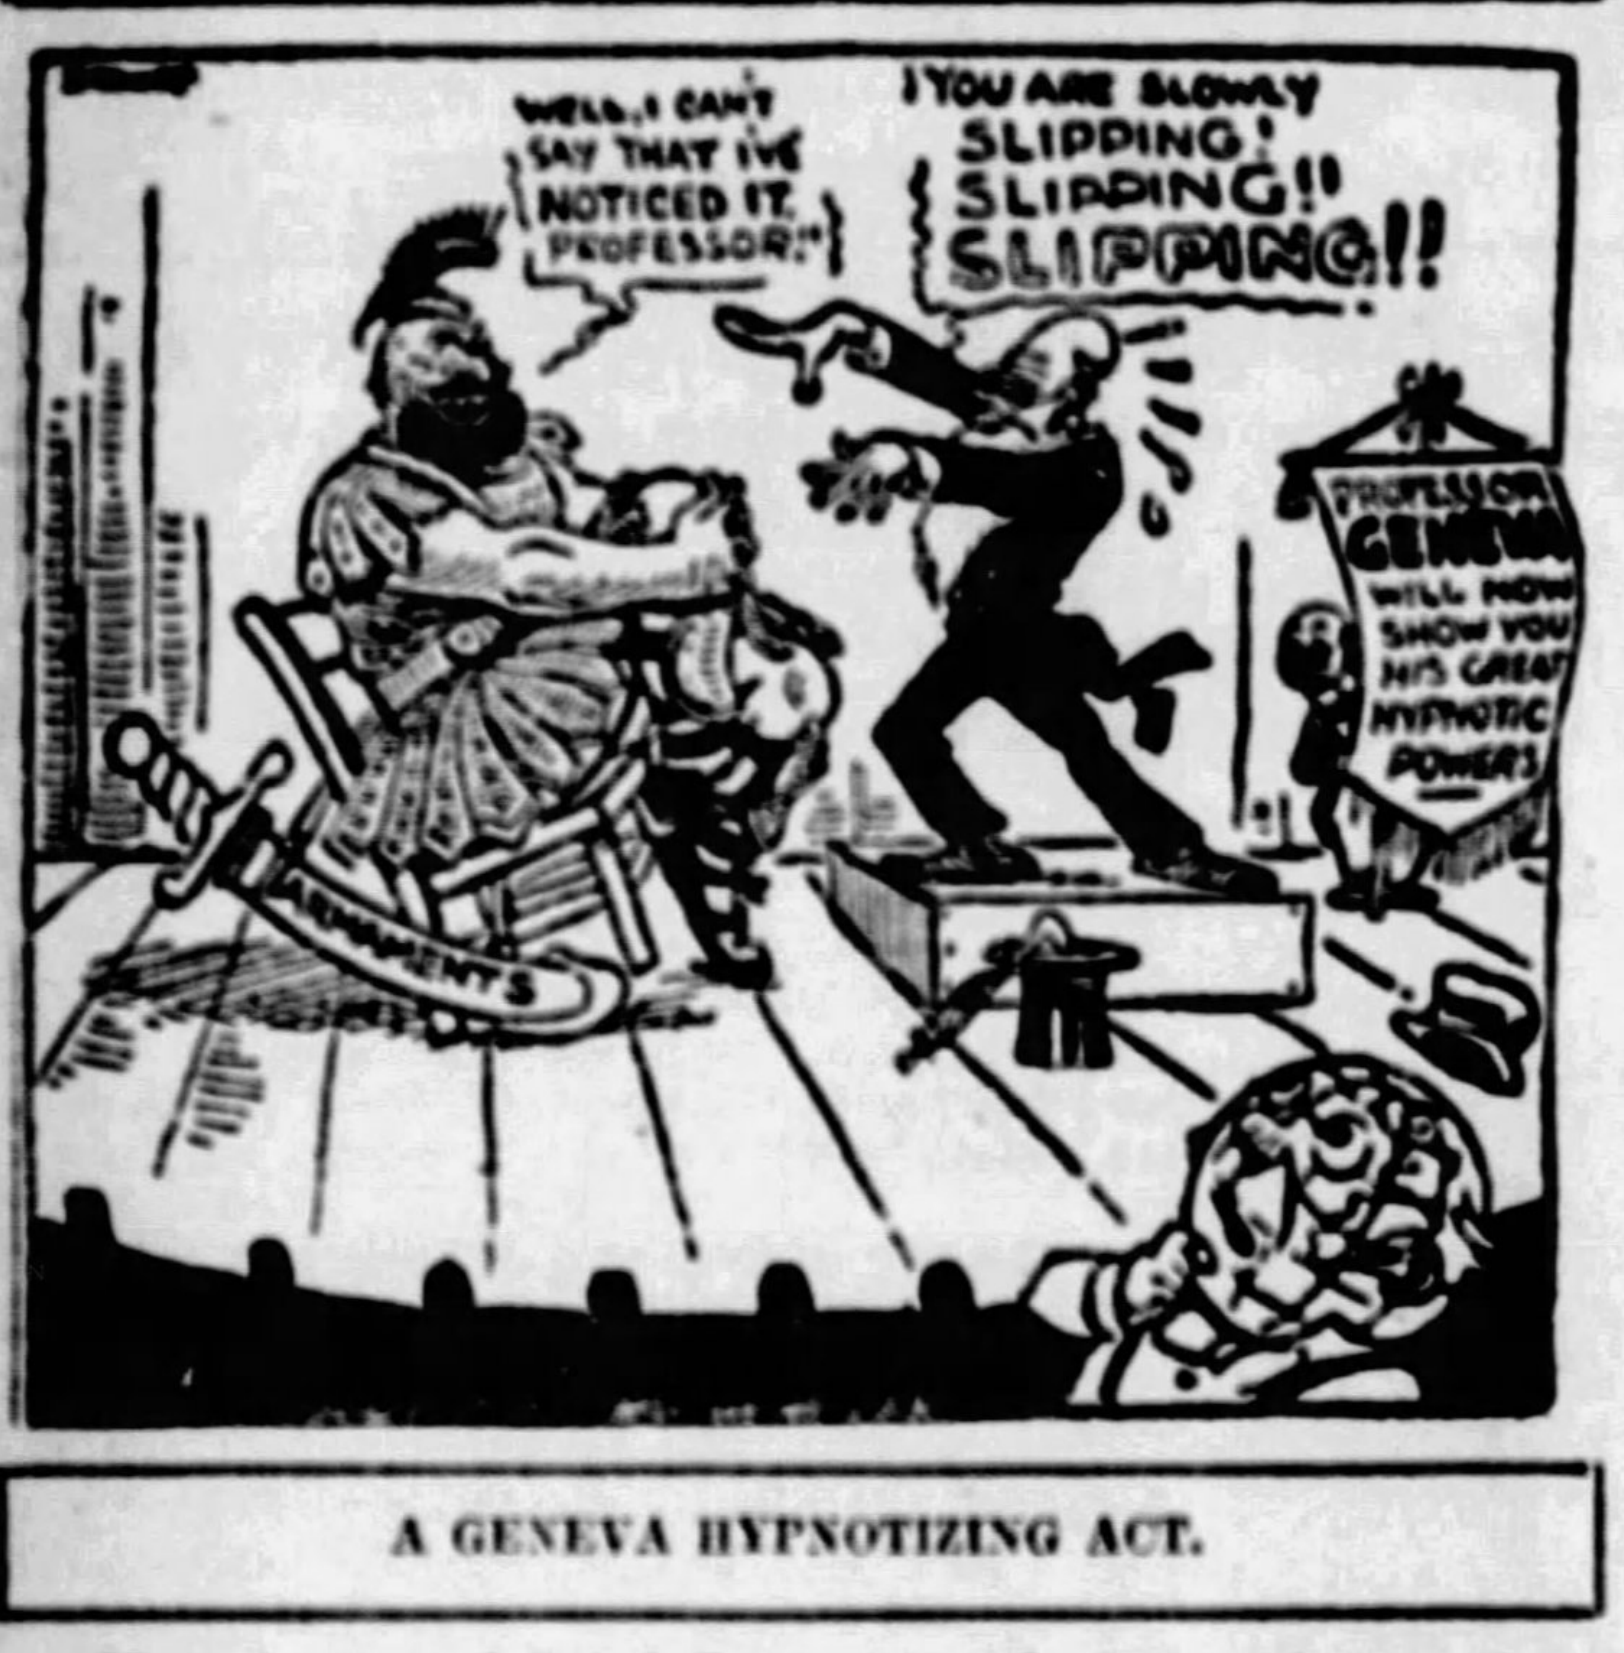
This is supremely disappointing in a man whose mere word the citizens of Pennsylvania once thought could bring about a change in the attitude of the contending parties in the coal strike. Last October 17 The Sun-Telegraph printed an editorial predicting the terrible suffering among miners' families if the strike were permitted to extend into the winter months. It suggested that wives of the operators and miners could settle the strike speedily if it were left to them and urged the men to get together—else Gov. Fisher might see fit to take a hand.

The predicted misery is a matter of history—history that has shocked the nation. The United States Senate—not Gov. Fisher—was compelled to take notice.

The public would welcome something of a really constructive nature from the Governor. It would rally to him and support him in any earnest movement to get "interested parties" into a conference that had in view the ending of the coal strike in this state. It would laud him for his effort to bring about such a meeting, even though it met with failure. Such action would be an evidence that he realizes executive duty is not limited to routine affairs but involves meeting critical situations in a big way. We would prefer to see our Governor stamped as a man who tried and failed rather than one who wishes everybody well and is willing to "co-operate" but who does nothing.

He Doesn't Know It

But Old War Really IS Slipping



WELL, I CAN'T SAY THAT I'VE NOTICED IT, PROFESSOR!
YOU ARE SLOWLY SLIPPING! SLIPPING!! SLIPPING!!
PROFESSOR GENEVA WILL NOW SHOW YOU HIS GREAT HYPNOTIC POWERS
ARMAMENTS

A GENEVA HYPNOTIZING ACT.

Here is one of Lord Beaverbrook's interesting cartoons showing old Prof. Geneva, the League of Nations hypnotist, trying to persuade Mars, god of war, that he is "slipping." Old War doesn't "notice it." But glaciers moving slowly, but surely, don't know that they are moving either.

Great powers like War, ruling kings, etc., often are slipping the fastest when they least expect it.

One day, Louis the Sixteenth, French King, who subsequently lost his head under the blade of the guillotine, went hunting in the royal preserves, shot nothing, and wrote in his diary that evening the one French word, "Rien," which means "nothing." And that was the day on which the Bastille was torn down, and on which his fate was sealed. He was slipping, toward the howling crowd at the guillotine, but he didn't "notice it."

Cannibalism was once entrenched among human beings as firmly as war is entrenched now.

All successful human races were cannibalistic once. Those NOT cannibals were the weak, downtrodden, for in times of famine they had no meat to give their children, whereas the cannibals always had plenty, or could GET it.

Cannibalism would have laughed at the idea that it could ever disappear. But it "slipped" and vanished.

The same is true of slavery.

The same will be true of war some day. Once it was the natural condition of practically all the races. A well meaning English statesman could say, without shocking anybody, "I shall be glad when the country is safely back at war again." He thought peace too dangerous, allowing the people to think too much for themselves.

There may be other wars, unfortunately. Another fearful lesson may be necessary to teach Europe that war does not pay, and that the winner must always be a loser.

Let us hope that this country can have the common sense to keep out of that war if it must come, and the good judgment to avoid any possibility of war involving US or these continents.

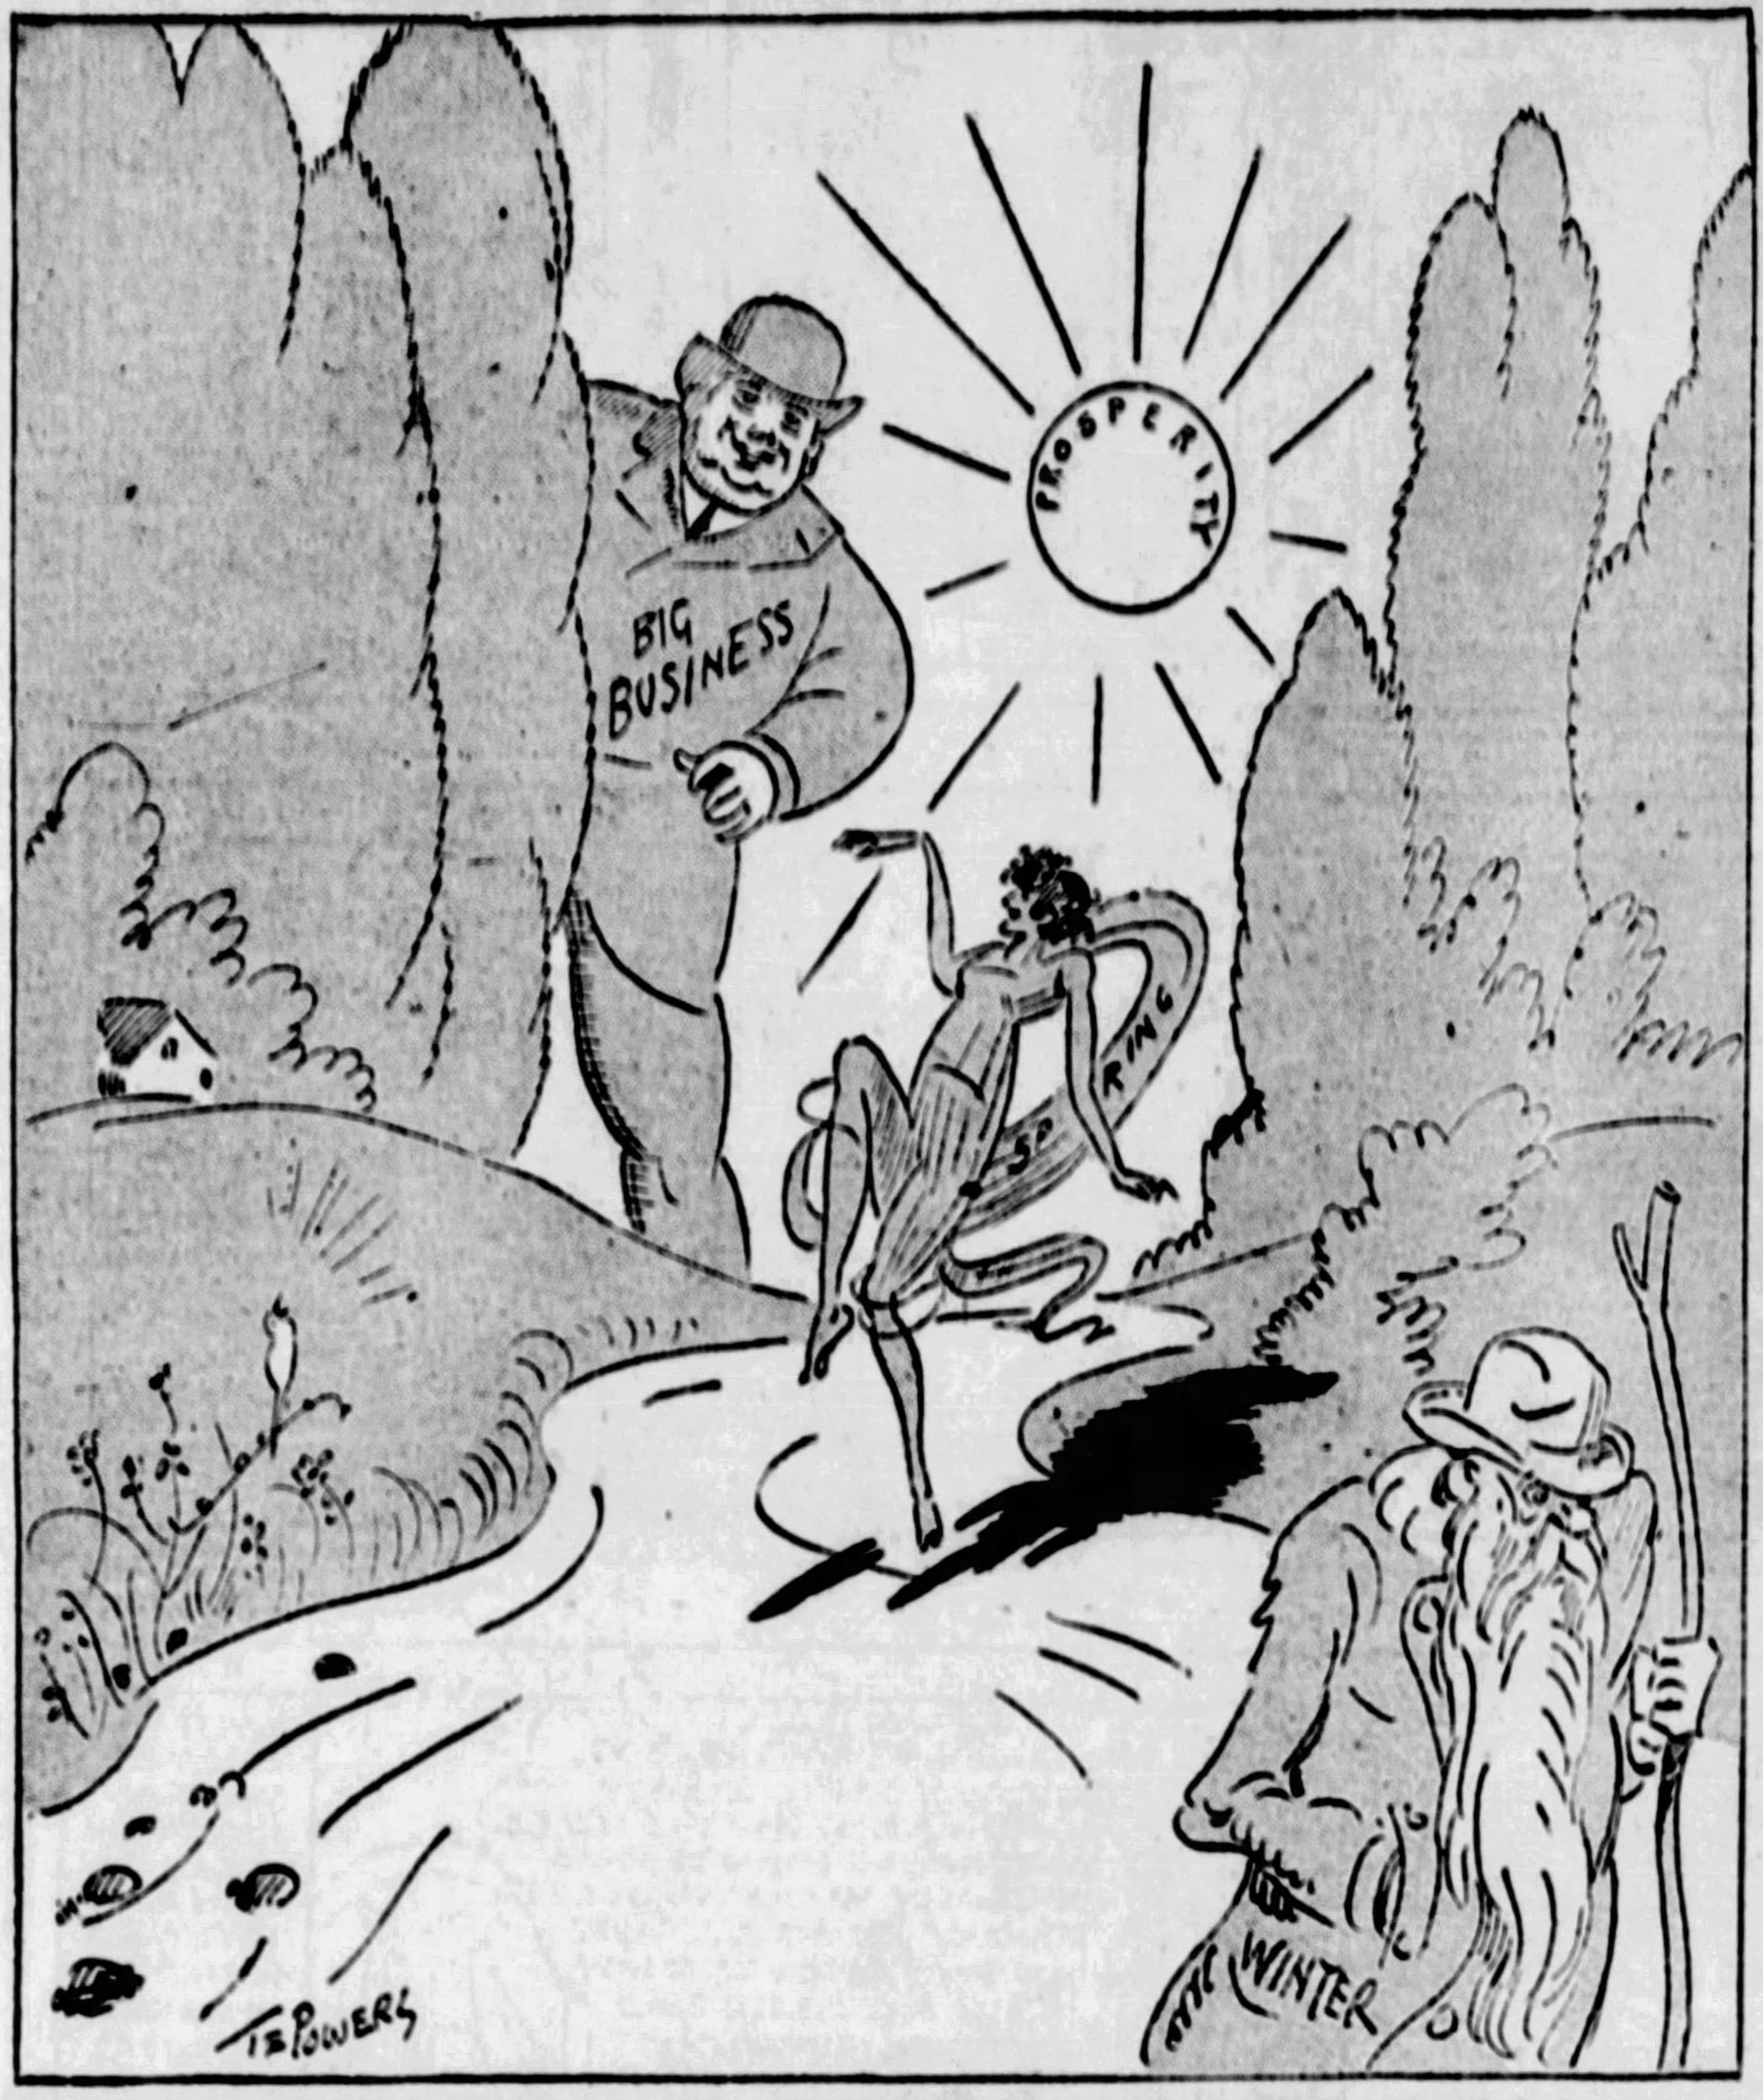
For what OTHERS may do we are not responsible. We are responsible for our own acts.

And if the United States allows itself to become a great swollen money bag, not prepared for defence, not provided with modern weapons, flying machines, submarines and swift cruisers, with UTMOST CONCENTRATION ON DEVELOPMENT OF MODERN FORMS OF WAR, POISON GASES AND HIGH EXPLOSIVES, then we shall get what we deserve.

War IS slipping: it will pass as cannibalism and slavery, the torture of witnesses, and rule by a few "riding on the backs of the many" have passed.

But before war slips away we may slip into war and slip disastrously, if we are not sufficiently well prepared to make war impossible.

Just Around the Corner -:- By T. E. Powers



Garrett P. Serviss Says:

The Story of Virgo

IN APRIL evenings, when the great winter constellations that encircle Orion like a starry court, are sinking in the west close after the sun, and when Leo the celestial lion stands erect on the meridian, with the royal star, Regulus, aglow in his heart, there catches the eye, over in the eastern sky, a piercing gleam, like a ray from a diamond. It is the typical star of spring, Spica, glittering, say the mythologists, on a spray of wheat borne by the hand of Virgo, the heavenly gleaner, or harvest goddess. In June Spica will be seen glittering on the meridian in the warm twilight after the sun has set. The flush of its pure white rays is exquisitely beautiful in a glass.

The constellation Virgo is one of the oldest in the zodiac. For thousands of years it has been recognized in many different countries, always as representing a female figure, and almost invariably associated with the idea of the fertility of the earth, or else with that of the reign of justice.

The old Greek poet of the stars, Aratos, tells a remarkable story of Virgo formerly inhabiting the earth, when, as E. Poste translates it:

"—— she mixed in human throngs nor ever shunned
Society of man or woman of the olden times,
But sate among them, immortal though she were,
And bore the name of Justice; and summoning the elders
In solemn senate or wide market-place
She sang the thrilling strains of equal law.
As yet they knew not baleful strife,
Nor parted interests' bitter feud, nor battle.

These things were when earth nurtured the golden race.
The silver race she visited more rarely, with altered mood.
But when that generation died and there was born
A brazen generation, more pernicious than their sires,
Who forged the felon sword,
Justice, loathing that race of men,
Winged her flight to heaven, and fixed her station in that region
Where still by night is seen
The virgin goddess near to bright Bootes."

It is about twenty-two centuries since Aratos wrote that, and, later, the sense of it remained in men's minds all through the days of Rome's glory, for Scipio, Sulla, Caesar and Augustus knew the story of how the divinity of Justice, accompanied by her sister Pudicia (Modesty), fled the earth when the bloody Age of Brass began. So, it appears, the stars have been great conservers of high human thoughts.

It would be well worth while for somebody to write a book giving the moral of the constellation stories, and showing how these starry pictures spread above our heads at night are a Bible of humanity, preserving its best traits, its noblest aspirations, its heroic moods, its faiths and its superstitions, its fears and its hopes.

The constellation Virgo contains a wonderland of crowded "spiral Nebulae," those extraordinary objects that astronomers hardly know how to account for, unless they may be "island universes" lying far outside our stellar system, but seen through its stars as one might glimpse neighboring coral islets shining through the palm trees of a Pacific archipelago.

Crossword Puzzles' Value

SOME mothers worry about the time that their children waste on crossword puzzles.

As a matter of fact, the time spent on crossword puzzles is probably the most profitable and educational of the child's day.

In solving them, in proceeding from the known to the unknown, it is necessary to use the most rigid method of scientific research.

First, we set down what we are sure of. Then we make assumptions, which scientists call hypotheses, and see whether they fit into the ascertained facts. Little by little a structure of new knowledge is built up. Finally, a completed whole lies before us, each factor co-ordained with every other one. The entire work constitutes new truth, evolved by a process of pure reasoning.

It is precisely the method by which the world received the astonishing discoveries and inventions of Pasteur, Edison, Marconi, Diesel, Koch, Madame Curie and Dr. Carrel.

It is doubtful whether any study the child pursues induces him to make the sustained mental effort which he makes in solving crossword puzzles. The pleasure he gets from working them is akin to the joy of the highest kind of creative achievement.

Think of Family

DAD, Mother and the Girls want you to make a good appearance.

They realize that the way you dress will not make you better or worse, but that is not a reason for being careless.

It ought not to require much effort to keep yourself looking pleasing to your family.

You may be a good father and a kind husband and your family appreciate your excellent qualities.

Perhaps you think that is all they should expect of you.

But it is not.

Mother and the youngsters want you to appear as well as other men.

Of course they do.

It is natural for your family to want to be proud of Dad.

You ought to be glad they take so much interest in your looks.

Perhaps you are doing so much for the family that you have had to curtail personal expenditures—which is another side of the picture.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

If I Should Dream

IF I should dream sometimes of days long past,
Sea-girt and sweet with sun,
Of days whose flaming glory could not last,
Whose joy too soon was done,

Would it be treason to this dull Today
Who comes with empty hands
And bears no gift of hours swift and gay
With sun on golden sands?

Would it be treason to this barren Time
That drags so slowly by
To fill my hours with remembered rhyme
And ghosts of melody?

Tales that are Told

The Literary Touch

POSSIBLY it was the first breath of spring in the air that sent a certain unknown author skipping into the office of Simple & Simons, book publishers.

"How long should a novel be?" asked the tyro of the first man he saw. It happened to be Mr. Simple.

"There is no statutory limit," answered the latter.

But the would-be author pressed him for some suggestion, and the publisher finally admitted that most standard novels were about eighty thousand words long.

"Thank heaven!" declared the other. "I've finished, then."

A Similar Token

THEY had not been married very long and the young bride was dusting her wedding presents. She stopped suddenly at a pair of silver frames.

"I do think it was kind of Mr. Griggs to send us a present, Jack," she said. "We scarcely knew him."

Her husband tossed aside the morning paper and drained his unsugared coffee at a gulp.

"Oh, well," he murmured, "I sent him a wreath when his wife died. I suppose he remembered I thought of him in his time of trouble, and decided he'd think of me in mine."

Stretching to Order

A LADY had advertised for a maid and was showing an applicant for the place over the house.

She had been very liberal in her promises of privileges—afternoons off, evenings out, and so on—and it looked as though the two were about to come to some agreement, when suddenly the girl asked:

"Do you do your own stretchin'?"

"Do we do what?" asked the puzzled mistress.

"Stretchin'," repeated the girl. "Do you put all the food on the table at dinner and stretch for it, or must I pass it around?"

Removing the Blot

A SMALL girl walked into a chemist's shop and handed a bottle to the man behind the counter.

"If you please," she said, "mother wants you to fill this with salts of lemon."

The chemist frowned.

"Salts of lemon!" he exclaimed. "But that's poison. What does your mother want it for?"

The little customer hesitated.

"It's for baby," she said at last. "You see, 'e's drank a bottle of ink, and mother wants to get the stains out of 'im!"—London Answers.

Not Overclothed

SHE was an essentially modern young woman on the way home from a special dance when a sharp attack of pain seized her.

Knocking on the glass to attract the taxicab driver's attention, she instructed him to take her round to her doctor's immediately.

The doctor was rather annoyed at being dragged out of his warm bed, but, all the same, he examined his patient.

"You have caught a severe chill," he said tersely. "Go straight home, dress, and get into bed."

It Cost Nothing

SCRINGER was a mean man, but on his son's twenty-first birthday everybody thought he would be rash for once at least.

His son burst in on him on the morning of the happy day.

"Dad," he cried, "you can't think how pleased I am. Everybody's been so good to me. You see, all my friends are helping me to buy a car. Bill's given me a cheque for the first instalment; Jack's bought me a lot of petrol and oil; Fred's given me a set of brand new tires. Now, what'll you give me?"

"Air for the tires," said his father seriously.

Horses Hate Music

IT WAS market day in the small provincial town, and after a good day's business old Tom stopped his horse outside the nearest public house and went in to have a drink before going home.

When he got inside, the barmaid had a pair of headphones over her ears and was listening-in.

Old Tom, greatly surprised, asked, in all innocence, what she was doing.

Without a word the barmaid slipped the headphones over his ears.

"My stars!" gasped the old fellow. "There's a blinkin' band a playing and nobody holding that 'orse of mine!" And he rushed madly out into the street.—London Answers.

O. O. McINTYRE

Seeing Paris

PARIS, March 21.—No visit to Paris is exactly complete unless one toils up the long flight of steps to Sacre Coeur at the top of Montmartre hill to watch the city twinkle with lights in the gathering dusk. Paris sprawls at one's feet in a devastating panorama of beauty.

Here atop Montmartre is the esplanade Place de Tertre, the open square filled with tables where drink is served from surrounding bars. Scores of mongrel dogs roam in packs through the spider web of tiny streets running in a tangled skein on all sides.

Old men who have given their lives to painting sit in camp chairs on the curbs stroking away at canvases that will be worthless save perhaps to posterity. This is not the artistic urge of the Latin Quarter. It is where men and women actually live in cold, dreary garrets gnawing at crusts.

In the square is the Mere Catherine, one of the oldest restaurants in Paris. It is the Ritz of Montmartre hill where one may dine with carafes of red wine for 50 cents. It is a frame building with a scabrous front standing since the twelfth century and run by lineal descendants of the original Mother Catherine.

Artists who have studied at the best art institutes over the world will caricature or snip out the silhouette of a visitor for a few francs—a pathetic gesture in order they may carry on the work which they hope will live after they are gone.

On Montmartre hill they dance in the streets at night to assorted music that floats out from the restaurants. There is a gentleness and human sympathy transcending the squalor of the attics and cold cobble stoned streets. A shy young girl may beckon you to dance just to show you you are welcome.

In the cubicle shops with dull blobs of candle light is a disordered array—a jinkle jumble of nothing that may be fought for by art collectors a hundred years hence. I bought, for instance, what seemed to me a beautiful still life painting for 11 francs—or 44 cents.

* * *

Florence Walton, the dancer, and her husband, Leon Letrim, are opening a haberdashery shop in Paris. Fanny Ward's beauty salon, "The Fountain of Youth," has moved across the Champs Elysees and Ganna Walska's perfume parlor on the rue de la Paix is reported doing a good business. Erskine Gwynne's journal, "The Boulevardier," also flourish

* * *

I have seen but one real drunk in Paris and he was an American. He was sprawled out at a table in Foyot's snoring lustily and someone had stuck a card in his hat bearing the penciled inscription: "Rest let." And it is at Foyot's incidentally where they crepe the meanest Suzette in Paris.

* * *

Fires are almost unknown in Paris. There hasn't been a real conflagration in a half century and a firemen's life is on par with a salesman of Easter lilies. But there was a fire today in the Avenue de l'Opera. A dress was completely burned up in a dry cleaning establishment and so great was the excitement the block was roped off. The head men in the fire department are carried to a blaze in the side car of a motorcycle. They wear iron hats painted a flaming red and look very silly.

* * *

In the Place de Vosges is the home of Victor Hugo open as a historical museum with two francs admittance fee. Place de Vosges is an enclosed square with a park in the center and ramparted with ponderous stone buildings. The Hugo home has four floors of spacious rooms filled with first editions, original manuscripts and art treasures, including a bust of the novelist by Rodin.

* * *

This evening we prowled about ancient streets off the quai in the Ile de la Cite. This is the old and original Paris and the widest sidewalks are no more than two feet. Some are blind streets not wide enough for even the tiny kitten-powered taxis, but have their marts, shops and hotels and bustle with life. They are like the rare old miniature etchings of Paris. One hotel with a gaudy lavender front interested me. It had seven rooms, a bar long enough to accommodate three people and was known as the "Pretty Hotel." All the guests, strangely enough, were Americans.

The Personal Touch

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

After all, there is no asset of business better than the personal touch.

The tendency of business nowadays is to become too mechanical, too soulless. That man is on the surest road to success who injects his personality into his business.

Mr. Chrysler of automobile fame made a speech the other day in which he bewailed the lack of personality in salesmanship, and many others have called attention to the same defect.

Your best advertisement is a satisfied customer.

We all appreciate the same thing in a business deal that editors appreciate in a story. We want the human touch. Anything that can redeem business and make it more human is welcome.

The other day an unusual letter trailed me from a faraway town and arrived at my desk.

It bore the stamp of a hotel where I had stayed for one night some time ago, and read:

"My Dear Sir:

"We notice that you were a guest at our hotel recently. We want to thank you for your patronage and trust that you will be with us again on your next visit to ——.

"We want you to feel that we are interested in your welfare while our guest, and that you are an individual and not a number while under our roof."

It was a new experience for me. I had received letters from hotels before, but none like that. I had forgotten all about the hotel, but this personal touch made it stand out in my mind. I noted the name and if I ever go back I will make a point of stopping there.

As I thought this over it occurred to me, as it has many times before, that friendliness is the great overlooked asset in business.

In a big city you can buy anything you want, but you do not know where to turn to find the personal touch.

In Times Square, New York, on State street in Chicago, near Pershing Square in Los Angeles, the crowds swim past you in an endless stream of people. People who do not know you, do not care about you, give you never a glance.

In every large city there are thousands who come and go and know no one.

Amid this ocean of loneliness a flash of friendliness, a cheery voice, a smile, a personal note, is imprinted on the memory as is no advertisement in the largest type. The hotel, the newsstand, any organization that deals with the public, has one of its greatest assets in the personal touch.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD.

VICTORIA BOSHKO, 20, says she doesn't know who put the paid advertisement in the papers, announcing her engagement to Col. Henry Dickinson Lindsley, of Dallas, Tex.—a married man. Victoria insists she is engaged. The colonel's dignified denial might be interpreted to mean "Tell that to the Marines."

Victoria claims 250 proposals in four months, the length of time she knew the colonel, who called, she says, only about once a week. That makes something like 15 proposals per call. Which, even if it were spring, sounds like too many.

Victoria has hired a lawyer and he probably will figure it all out.

One man told his wife her funny little Pekenese with the comical green sweater must be gone when he came home. She took it miles away and boarded it out. Once a week she sneaks out to see it, and carefully brushes all the dog hairs off her clothes before her husband comes home.

The husband wasn't an American. I saw two docile American husbands leading pekes up the avenue yesterday, green sweaters and all.

When kinder husbands are made, America will make them.

A lady who was ill phoned a doctor, and his secretary told her she could see the doctor "at 3 o'clock next Tuesday." On Friday she received an engraved slip with the date of her appointment written in. The lady was well by Tuesday and didn't go. He's a lovely doctor, but the lady wonders if anybody ever dies between Thursday and Tuesday.
